

W. D. MANLEY BREAKS FIVE-DAY HUNGER STRIKE; JURY DECISION ON HIS SANITY EXPECTED TODAY

U. S. To Probe "Poison" Death at Atlanta Pen

CONVICT BURIES MOTHER; RETURNS TO PRISON TO DIE

Vance Cotter, LaGrange Man, Suspected of Taking Poison Over Mother's Bier.

PRISON WARDEN REQUESTS INQUIRY

Narcotic Prisoner Dies Mysteriously After Re- turn From Funeral; Sui- cide Is Doctors' Theory.

Believed by prison doctors to have taken poison at the funeral of his mother which he was permitted to attend at LaGrange last Saturday, Vance L. Cotter, World War hero and commercial artist, who was serving a term at the federal penitentiary here for narcotic violations, died at the prison Wednesday but a scant few days before his term would have expired and he would have been a free man.

At the request of Warden A. C. Aderhold, the United States department of justice will undertake an investigation into the death and an independent probe was started Wednesday by the warden's office.

Cotter, in company with one guard, attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. W. B. Cotter, in LaGrange Saturday night. Tuesday morning he was taken sick and he died early Wednesday.

After examination of the body, medical authorities at the prison reported to the warden that they believed Cotter had taken a slow poison at the funeral.

Dependent on the loss of his mother was given as reason for the action of Cotter, who was given a short sentence several months ago at New Orleans on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic laws.

Thus far, no blame has been placed by prison officials in connection with the affair, pending completion of the investigation.

Prior to the war, Cotter was engaged in the hotel business. During the conflict he was wounded several times and was cited for bravery. He studied art while in Europe and perfected the study during several years spent in government hospitals here on his return.

He was known in Atlanta through several commercial art jobs he executed. He was a native of LaGrange.

U. S. DEPARTMENT TO BEGIN PROBE.

Washington, October 16.—(AP)—The department of justice today announced that at the request of the warden of the Atlanta penitentiary an investigation would be made into the death of Vance L. Cotter, a convict in the prison.

Department authorities said they believed Cotter, who was serving a term for narcotic violations, had taken a fatal dose of poison while attending the funeral of his mother at LaGrange, Ga., in custody of a prison guard. The department had given permission to go to his mother's funeral last Saturday.

Cotter returned to the prison Monday night, but Tuesday morning was taken sick and died early today. According to the department, medical authorities believe Cotter during his absence took poison which resulted in his death.

COTTER NATIVE OF LAGRANGE.

LaGrange, Ga., October 16.—(Special.)—Vance Cotter, who died today in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, was a native of LaGrange, an artist of note and had been cited for bravery in the World War, friends here said tonight.

At the funeral of his mother Cotter, who was accompanied by a guard from the penitentiary, seemed to be unusually grief-stricken.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Charles Roberts, of New Orleans, and two brothers, Robert Cotter of Baton Rouge, La., and Charles Cotter, of Charleston, S. C.

HAPPIEST MATING IN ALL HOLLYWOOD ENDS IN DIVORCE

Los Angeles, October 16.—(United News.)—The film colony's "happiest marriage"—that of Elinor Fair and William Boyd, was disrupted today when Miss Fair filed suit for divorce.

She charged mental cruelty. Boyd answered by saying they "simply couldn't get along."

The marriage, which took place romantically while both were playing in the film "The Volga Boatman," was regarded by critics of such things as "Hollywood's happiest."

Note From Girl Involves Officer in Mystery Death

Miss Irene Ord, New York show girl, is detained by New Orleans authorities in connection with the mysterious death of Jack Kraft, her escort, whose body was found in the Mississippi river with a bullet in the chest. Miss Ord is shown above with a detective en route from her hotel to the office of the district attorney for many hours of questioning.

She reported that Kraft jumped overboard while the steamship Creole was heading for New Orleans. The steward of the ship has also been questioned and a note from her cell Wednesday involved the junior second officer of the boat, who will be questioned.

Effort To Arrest Second Mate of Ship Blocked by Captain on Plea of Indis- pensability.

New Orleans, October 16.—(United News.)—Stating that the second mate was indispensable to the running of the ship, Captain E. W. Sundstrom, of the steamer Creole, tonight refused to allow the arrest of Second Officer John McGouldrick in connection with the death of Jack Kraft, New York youth, who mysteriously disappeared from the ship as it neared New Orleans last Friday.

An order for McGouldrick's arrest was issued late today, after Miss Irene Ord, traveling companion of the dead youth, had ill-advisedly written a letter to the officer and handed it to newspapermen for mailing. The Creole put out for the return trip to New York today but was stopped by deputy sheriffs at Pilot Point tonight.

Miss Ord, beautiful blonde, who admitted last night that she had quarreled violently with Kraft a few minutes before his death, was held in parish prison tonight while officials delved deeper into the mystery surrounding the death of the youth, who at first was thought to have committed suicide by jumping into the water, but whose body was later found in the river with a bullet hole in the heart.

The violent quarrel, in which Kraft admitted to choke the girl, was testified to by Steward Sam Epstein, of the Creole. He said he and the girl had agreed to keep the quarrel quiet. Miss Ord admitted that Kraft had upbraided her for her attentions to officers aboard the ship but it was not known until today that it was McGouldrick to whom the youth had particularly objected. Epstein said he heard the quarrel and a few minutes later saw Kraft jump, after which he barely succeeded in restraining the girl from following Kraft into the water.

Miss Ord wrote the following letter to McGouldrick to whom she was married: "Mac: Though I didn't see you to say goodbye and things look pretty black for me, my promise still holds. I haven't changed my mind. Remain the same on the subject we talked of the last evening I saw you (the night of Kraft's death) and as soon as I am cleared of this I'll write you and we can make our plans. The thought of you is all that keeps me from going to pieces. Please write me as soon as possible."

The cost of the new building, it is estimated, will be approximately $2,100,000.

Heath and Philip were entertained at a noon luncheon in the Capital City Club by Robert F. Maddox, president of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank, and were guests at a dinner given by E. K. Large, Atlanta postmaster, Wednesday night.

Selection of a site for Atlanta's proposed new postoffice building was begun Wednesday by Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, and John W. Philip, fourth assistant postmaster-general.

The two officials spent the entire day with Postmaster E. K. Large, conferring with real estate brokers and others who have offered sites. They expect to return to Washington today.

Among the sites submitted for the government officials' consideration are the following:

Otto F. Fell, agent, 250x400 leasehold interest, held by Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway, and owned by state of Georgia.

Central of Georgia Railway Company, 350x300, Spring street at corner of Terminal station over freight house and delivery yard.

Several sites offered by F. M. Inman, and several offered by the Atlanta Trust Company, and the Trust Company of Georgia, along Spring street at Alabama, Hunter, Mitchell and Trinity avenue.

The site will not be definitely settled upon at this time, as the officials stated. The final decision will probably be made next month at a meeting of an inter-departmental committee in Washington.

The present postoffice building will not be sold but will be retained as the central station, and the new edifice will be used mainly as a plant for mail-handling machinery and for the housing of various government agencies scattered throughout the city.

DRY ARMY MOPS UP ATLANTIC COAST; 35 PLACES RAIDED

Unlicensed Radio Station to Send Messages to Rum Fleet Is Taken in Raids.

New York, October 16.—(AP)—Striking suddenly along a wide front extending from Atlantic City to the eastern tip of Long Island, a small army of federal agents and New Jersey troopers today conducted one of the most elaborately planned offensives against bootleggers in recent years.

Promptly at 4:30 p. m. the officers conducted 35 simultaneous raids. They arrested at least 32 men and reported they had uncovered a fortified liquor storehouse in Highlands, N. J., and an unlicensed radio broadcasting station near that town which they said was used in communicating with rum ships along the Atlantic coast.

Federal prohibition authorities in the southern and eastern districts of New York and New Jersey united in planning the raids under the general supervision of William J. Calhoun, prohibition administrator for New Jersey. The raids were carried out by 35 deputy United States marshals, 75 special treasury agents and 29 New Jersey state troopers.

Assistant United States Attorney Robert B. Watts received reports as they trickled into the federal building here. He said the raid at Highlands, N. J., disclosed that an old mansion had been converted into a storehouse that resembled a fort.

The raiders, he said, found ammunition, firearms, machine gun emplacements and magazines and beneath the mansion discovered a labyrinth of vaults and passages containing large quantities of wines and liquors, which were seized.

Watts said the raiding party that descended on Highlands caught Mannie Kessler, alleged "king of the bootleggers," and Morris Sweetwood, both of whom he said served terms in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for liquor law violations.

Several of the 35 raids were conducted in New York City. Agents entered a room in West Forty-third street, arrested Joseph Levin and seized records, while the agents were there a man entered displaying a brightly polished badge. He was promptly arrested and was identified later by police as Sam Krivet, of Union City, N. J. The agents said Krivet carried a bottle of gin and papers indicating he was a salesman.

The badge bore the legend, "New Jersey Secret Service."

Watts said the basis of the raids was laid Tuesday when a federal grand jury in Trenton, N. J., indicted 34 men on charges of conspiracy to import, transport, distribute and sell liquor. Since many of the men indicted lived in the southern and eastern districts of New York, the officials decided on simultaneous raids to prevent "tip offs."

James Wilkinson, chief assistant United States attorney in Brooklyn, Mr. Watts, and Assistant United States Attorney Arrowsmith, of New Jersey, agreed by telephone tonight to ask $15,000 bail for all principals and $5,000 for all subordinates arrested in raids.

Government agents tonight were operating the Atlantic Highlands radio station, Calhoun said, using the secret code to communicate with a liquor-laden freighter off the Jersey coast.

The freighter was due to arrive off New York tonight and the federal agents are notifying its skipper by radio that "the coast is clear" and to head for port. The ship and members of its crew will be seized, Calhoun said.

Calhoun revealed the extent of the "Empire" Kessler ruled as alleged "king of the bootleggers."

The liquor ring, it was charged, owns six ocean-going steamships used to bring liquor from Bermuda and the Bahamas and maintains foreign headquarters at St. Pierre Miquelon, off the coast of Canada. These steamships were said to be equipped with small cannon and machine guns.

In addition, it was charged, there was a well trained land "army" composed by gunmen stationed at New Jersey and Long Island roadhouses along the seacoast, with additional men at points from Maine to Virginia.

Fleets of trucks, it was said, operated on schedule throughout the east, equipped with false bodies and manned by gunmen.

Officials revealed it was the scientific methods employed by the rum ring to communicate with its ships that led to today's raids. Several months ago federal agents intercepted a radio message in code and after a lengthy effort succeeded in decoding the message and locating the station.

Georgia Dairy Products Are Named Finest As State 4-H Team Wins U.S. Championship

Georgia dairy products were declared the finest in the nation Wednesday at the National Dairy Show in St. Louis when the exhibits of the state 4-H Dairy Demonstration Club team were chosen over entries from practically every state in the Union, and the Wilkes county group selected as the grand champion team. Left to right are Zellers Stanford, C. W. Wheeler, county agent for Wilkes county, who was coach of the team, and Claude Willingham, Charles Griffin, third member of the team, is not shown.

St. Louis, October 16.—(Special.)—Georgia dairy products and Georgia boys set new standards in American dairymaking when the 4-H Club dairy demonstration team of Wilkes county was declared grand champion at the National Dairy Show here today.

Three boys, all of Washington, Ga., Claude Willingham, Charles Griffin and Zellers Stanford, composing the team which was named grand champion, also were first in the demonstration of Georgia milk and milk products.

Competition here was keen with 4-H Club teams from practically every state in the nation competing for the designation as grand champion.

The Georgia team, which was coached by C. W. Wheeler, county agent of Wilkes county, who accompanied the three youths, was selected as the finest Georgia team in a statewide contest. Other state teams were selected in similar manner.

GRAND CHAMPIONS ARE SELECTED.

St. Louis, October 16.—(AP)—Judging of Ayshire and Brown Swiss breeds in the national dairy show closed today with selection of grand champion cows. Grand champions in Guernsey cattle also awarded blue ribbons. Jerseys and Holsteins will parade in the judging ring tomorrow.

For the third time in as many years, the Border King of Roberts, of the Glen Cliff farm, Independence, Kansas, was awarded the grand championship of Guernsey bulls. He first won the honor at Memphis, Tenn., two years ago and was re-named grand champion there last year.

Since yesterday's junior championship among bulls went to Carolina May Royal, from the Emmadine farms, Hopewell Junction, N. Y.

The grand champion cow among the Ayshires, owned by Robert L. Knight, Lippitt farm, Providence, R. I. This same Ayshire, Ayshire, Alta Crest, Roman, Alta Crest farms, Spencer, Mass., and Brown Swiss, Violet of Meadow Green, owned by N. C. Schmidt, Monroe, Wis.

Georgia yesterday's cattle judging has been a continuous feature with as many as 3,000 persons gathering around the judging ring at one time.

Today was Missouri and Mid-South Day and drew one of the largest crowds of the show. The management announced that 101,000 persons visited the arena, where the exposition was in progress, the first four days of the show.

Judging among the 4-H clubs and vocational students was concluded yesterday and most of the thousands of youths who attended left today.

J. N. Leekie, of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, was first in individual judging of Jerseys in the students' national dairy cattle testing contest.

SENATE ADJOURNS TO HONOR MEMORY
OF REP. L. J. STEELE

Washington, October 16.—(Special.)—Out of respect to the memory of the late Representative Leslie J. Steele, of the fifth Georgia district, the senate adopted a resolution of adjournment late yesterday, ending its session in advance of the regular program.

The motion was offered by Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, in keeping with traditions of the chamber. Neither house was in session at the time of Representative Steele's death some weeks ago.

It appeared from the firing of alarm guns and ringing of bells that the march of Lieutenant-Colonel Smith was discovered and he was opposed by a body of men within six miles of Concord, some few of whom first began to fire on his advance companies, which brought on a fire from the troops that dispersed the boys opposed to them, and they proceeded to Concord, where they proceeded to destroy all military stores they could find.

"On the return of the troops they were attacked from all quarters where any concealment was to be found from whence it was practicable to annoy them; and they were so fatigued with their march that it was with difficulty they could keep out the enemy at a distance; so that they were at length a good deal exposed."

"Lord Percy then arrived opportunely to their assistance with his brigade and two pieces of cannon and, notwithstanding a continuous skirmish for a space of 15 miles, fired on from every hill, house, barn, fence, etc., his lordship kept the enemy off and brought his troops to Charleston."

"They are now spirited up by a rage and enthusiasm as great as ever people were possessed of, and you must proceed in earnest or give the business up. You must have large armies attack on different sides to divert their force."

"Your lordship would be astonished to see the trust of country they have entrenched and fortified. I wish this cursed place was burned. We are here taking the bull by the horns, attacking the enemy in their strong part."

In this report he urged Barrington to send hired continental troops to America. In August of the same year he wrote:

"The die is cast and the rebels have been better prepared than anybody would believe, but affairs are not desperate if the nation will exert her force. You have too many amongst you of the same stamp as the American rebels. The Americans have duped many others and made them their tools. You have gone too far to retreat, and therefore collect all the force you can and I think you cannot fail to bring the rebellious provinces to your terms, notwithstanding all their gasconades."

WIFE PERSUADES FORMER BANKER TO TAKE MEALS

DR. ALLEN CALLED TO TESTIFY TODAY

Two Georgia Alienists Summoned by Court Refuse To Examine Prisoner Because of Lack of Time.

The five-day hunger strike of W. D. Manley, ex-banker, whose mental competency to stand trial on a mail fraud charge will be determined by a jury in federal court today, came to an end at the Piedmont sanitarium Wednesday night.

After hours of efforts by hospital attendants had failed, the former banker yielded to the requests of his wife and took slight nourishment in addition to medicines prescribed for him by attending physicians.

His attitude completely changed, belief was expressed that Manley would give the government physicians no additional worry. It will be several days, however, before the ex-banker will be in condition again to be given substantial food.

Manley, facing a federal charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with the collapse of a chain of 86 banks under his control more than three years ago, had steadfastly refused to accede to the wishes of attendants since last Saturday, the day after Judge Sibley had overruled a preliminary motion for continuance of his trial.

Upon request of District Attorney Clint W. Hager, Mrs. Manley was granted permission by the court to accompany her husband to the hospital Wednesday, in the hope that she would be able to persuade the ex-banker to eat.

Manley has been confined in the Piedmont sanitarium under government direction, since Tuesday, when a jury test case was opened to determine his mental ability to stand trial following a defense motion for continuance on grounds of insanity.

Following a brief court session Wednesday, Marion Smith chief of Manley's counsel, announced that the defense would rest today with the testimony of Dr. H. Dawson Allen, of Milledgeville, who will be called to the stand when court is resumed at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Allen has been Manley's personal physician since the former banker was entered in his sanitarium several months ago.

"Two Georgia alienists, subpoenaed on behalf of the defense to examine Manley and express their opinions as to his sanity,"

K. D. Garrison, limited commercial pilot of Birmingham, Ala., flew into Candler Field Wednesday in his OX-5 Travel Air for the purpose of receiving some advanced training from Doug Davis, local manager for Southern Air Transport, Inc. Garrison, who is the son of a well known Birmingham physician, has almost completed his transport work and is planning to take his tests for the higher classification before Supervising Inspector Leo C. Wilson before he returns to Birmingham.

This column is in receipt of a letter from Miss Fannie Lee Chapman, of Lafayette, Ga., who is seeking information on the efficacy, if any, of airplane rides as a cure for deafness. Miss Chapman, who states that she is suffering from "catarrhal deafness," is very anxious to learn if any permanent benefit has ever been de-

Several Atlanta pilots have been invited to Waycross on November 26 to participate in the formal dedication of the Ware County airport, scheduled for that date, and several Army and Navy planes also are likely to be on hand for the ceremonies. E. J. Trotter, secretary of the Waycross and Ware County Chamber of Commerce, who was in Atlanta Monday for the regional airport conference, reported that the field, which is located three miles north of Waycross, has been highly praised by aeronautics officials and is regarded as one of the best in the state. Mr. Trotter added that the addresses and discussions heard at the conference here will aid him greatly in the development of the south Georgia port.

Train-plane service between Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans will be inaugurated October 28 by the Illinois Central railroad and the Continental Air Service, Inc. It was announced Wednesday at the headquarters of the air transport company at St. Louis. Southbound passengers will leave Chicago or St. Louis by train, transferring to amphibian planes at Memphis, Tenn., for a flight to Vicksburg or New Orleans. Northbound schedules call for rail travel from New Orleans to Memphis, then by air to St. Louis and Chicago. Travel Air monoplane will be used on the northern section of the route and Keystone-Loening amphibians on the southern section, it was announced.

Old-timers in aviation turn up almost every day. Shortly after the Wright brothers made their epochal flight at Kitty Hawk many adventurous souls sought, in their quaint flying contraptions of the day, to join the ranks of airplane pilots. Many representatives of this early group of real adventurers have banded themselves into an organization known as the Early Birds, whose members met together at big air meets, national conferences and the like.

This column would like to dig into the early records of those who pioneered in heavier-than-air machines, those intrepid few who went into flying when men were men and airplanes were cranes and when one's life—after the owner had left the ground—wasn't worth his weight in salt water. In and near Atlanta there must be some who made solo flights prior to the war days of 1917. If you know of anyone falling in that category—or happen to fall into it yourself—drop a line to this column or phone the aviation editor.

Then again, you may know someone who is, in your belief, the oldest person in the world—a man who has piloted a plane in solo flight, or the youngest who has taken a plane aloft. We want to hear names, as well as of others in this vicinity who are not generally known to have been in the aviation game, but who have taken planes aloft before the military, commercial or military pilots. Much of interest in aviation may be learned from those who today are rightly regarded as the pioneers of the newest, fastest and most thrilling form of transportation.

U. S. ASKED DOHENY OIL BID, ASSERTS WITNESS

Washington, October 16.—(P)—Testimony that Edward L. Doheny had submitted a bid on the Pearl Harbor-Elk Hills contract only after "the horrors" of a war might bring to the Pacific coast had been sketched out by the jury in the case of Albert B. Fall for bribery late today by Captain John K. Robison, who held the rank of rear admiral while chief of engineers of the navy. Examined by defense counsel, he said he had pleaded with Doheny to undertake the work as a matter of patriotism after the oil man had said he was not interested.

Robison testified he had been placed in charge of the oil reserves and negotiations by Edwin Denby, then secretary of the navy. Necessary to Security. It was necessary to security of the Pacific coast, he testified, that the oil reserves be placed in the hands of a man of known integrity. He said he had been placed in charge of the oil reserves and negotiations by Edwin Denby, then secretary of the navy.

He then appealed to Doheny's patriotism, Robison testified, after "sketching the horrors" of a war that might come to the Pacific coast. Doheny was excited by the recital, the witness related, and said that at least one bid would be submitted, perhaps not by his company, but by a company that would not expect to make profit out of the deal.

On cross-examination Robison said he knew Fall had ordered that final action on the Pearl Harbor contract not be taken until submitted to him. Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, questioned Robison sharply and drew from him the assertion that he was surprised at a request by Fall that the contract contain a clause giving Doheny's company preference to Elk Hills leases.

Prior to Robison's appearance, H. Foster Bain, former director of the bureau of mines, completed his testimony, intended by the defense to show he had endeavored to secure bids on the Pearl Harbor-Elk Hills contract from a number of oil companies. On cross-examination the government brought from Bain testimony that Fall had caused it to be understood by interior department executives that no oil lease could be signed without submitting it to him and that papers in the Pearl Harbor-Elk Hills contract were submitted to him before the contract was signed.

A number of Fall's New Mexico neighbors were called to the stand today as character witnesses. They had known Fall for years, they testified, and said his reputation for honesty and integrity was high. The defense case progressed so rapidly today that Frank Hogan, chief Fall counsel, announced he expected to conclude Friday morning, so that the closing arguments could be made and the case go to the jury by Saturday noon.

TARIFF VICTORY SEEN ON EXPORT DEBENTURE

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER, Associated Press Staff Writer. Washington, October 16.—The tariff situation became more complicated than ever today with expressions of confidence by democrats and western republicans that they had enough votes to insert in the export debenture plan in the Hawley-Smoot bill. Leaders of the same coalition which placed the debenture in the farm relief measure over the protest of President Hoover only have it eliminated after the house went on record overwhelmingly against it, said they were ready for a vote on the proposition now and claimed it would pass with a comfortable majority. It won by three votes in the farm bill contest.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the new debenture plan under which certificates amounting to half the tariff on farm commodities would be issued to the farm board by the treasury and used to help the farmer get a better price for the crops he exports, proposes to offer the plan after the senate completes action on the administrative sections of the bill.

No progress was made on the bill today, the senate laying it aside temporarily to consider the nominations of the federal farm board members. Rates are not expected to be reached until next week.

The only tariff development in the senate itself during the day was the offering of an amendment by Senator Waterman, republican, Colorado, which would bring about abrogation of the Cuban-American reciprocity treaty by applying to Cuban imports the full tariff the United States levies against other countries. Only a Day Needed. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, said not over a day would be necessary to pass on the debenture plan. Personally, he said, he would be willing to call for a vote an hour after it was brought up. Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the republican independent group, said a bill had been started on the debenture and so far it indicated sufficient strength to pass it. Republican regulars were noncommittal. Should the bill go to the house with the debenture in it, the coalition opposition to the administration believes it will have a good chance of keeping in the bill either this or the democratic substitute approved by the senate for the finance committee flexible tariff plan. President Hoover wants the present policy of permitting the executive to change customs duties continued. Rather than have both proposals eliminated from the conference on the bill between the senate and house, it is believed the senate coalition would prefer to have no tariff bill. For the third time within a week a republican member of the finance committee today talked tariff with the president. Senator Edge, New Jersey, discussed the general situation with Mr. Hoover at the White House, but said later he had gathered no impressions from the visit.

HOOVER IS READY TO AID CAMPAIGN ON FLORIDA FLY

Washington, October 16.—(P)—Senator Fletcher, of Florida, and Peter O. Knight, of Tampa, said after a conference with President Hoover today that the executive is prepared to be "very liberal" in appropriations for Mediterranean fruit fly control. After a previous visit with the president, Mr. Knight stated that Mr. Hoover was very much interested in the fruit fly situation and wished to do all that he could to be of help. At this time Senator Fletcher and Knight are particularly anxious that the administration use its influence to obtain quick action on the $25,000,000 appropriation for eradication work which Secretary Hyde has recommended.

141 INDICTED IN NEW YORK MILK TIE-UP

New York, October 16.—(P)—A blanket indictment charging conspiracy in restraint of trade was returned today against Larry Fay, so-called czar of the milk trade, and 140 members of the New York Milk Chain Association, Inc., of which Fay was head. Bench warrants for all those named were issued.

The indictments grew out of charges by Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, commissioner of health, that more than $500,000 had been extorted from New York milk dealers by the association. Effective with last trains Sunday, October 20th, Trains 41 and 42 between Atlanta and West Point, will be discontinued. Passengers heretofore handled on those trains will be accommodated in buses of the Georgia Highway Transport Company on practically the same schedule.

GAS TAX WARRANT CASE TO BE HEARD MONDAY MORNING

The Georgia supreme court will consider the constitutionality of the law authorizing the issuance of deferred warrants anticipating gasoline tax revenues, at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

The test case, which is in the form of a mandamus suit by Governor L. G. Hardman to compel William B. Harrison, comptroller general, to sign one of the warrants, was tried recently in the Fulton superior court. A decision upholding the statute was given by that body, and an appeal taken to the supreme court.

To expedite a final decision the supreme court has given the case precedence over the usual order of business. It is expected that an unusually prompt opinion will be given by the supreme court.

The statute authorizes the anticipation of 40 per cent or less of the gasoline tax revenues. If it is held constitutional, it is understood that deferred warrants will be issued immediately with which to obtain $2,000,000 of federal funds available when matched by an equal amount of state money.

Supreme Court May Rule On Penalty To Be Handed Out to Liquor Purchaser

Test Case Likely Will Be Submitted to High Tribunal To Settle Controversy.

Washington, October 16.—(P)—The supreme court may soon be asked to decide whether the buyer of liquor is equally liable with the seller to prosecution.

A test case has been asked by the district attorney at Philadelphia as a result of a ruling by the circuit court of appeals there that the buyer is immune from arrest. Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., solicitor-general, after conferences with Attorney-General Mitchell, is expected to decide shortly whether the case will be carried to the supreme court.

The decision of the department of justice was being awaited tonight with interest, in view of the widespread discussion recently concerning the liability of liquor purchasers. Two dry leaders took a hand today in the developments.

Sheppard to Ask Inquiry. Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, author of the 18th amendment, was recently proposed an amendment to the Volstead act to provide for prosecution of the purchaser, said he would ask an inquiry by the attorney-general to decide whether the government may not now prosecute buyers under the present law.

"No one can escape the proposition," he said, "that the buyer of intoxicating liquor is equally guilty with the seller, if the liquor traffic is to be considered a crime."

From F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, came a statement asserting that it was an open question whether the Sheppard proposal would "be a hindrance rather than a help" in prohibition enforcement, adding that "many drys believe it to be harmful."

He pointed out that such legislation has already been tried and repealed in one or two states, and said that since a sale is rarely made in the presence of a third party, "the conviction of the seller must almost invariably depend upon the testimony of the buyer."

"To accomplish conviction of the buyer it would be necessary," he said, "to grant immunity to the seller."

Further to Fore. The purchaser's legal culpability was brought further to the fore recently by diverging opinions from two federal courts. The ruling from the Philadelphia court was followed by an expression by Federal Judge Dawson, of Kentucky, that rum buyers do violate the Volstead act and he asked grand jurors to indict purchasers.

Attorneys at the department of justice and officials engaged in handling liquor law prosecutions are known to believe the purchaser can be prosecuted.

Some opponents of prohibition have contended that because there is no reference to the buyer in the 18th amendment, penalties for purchasing liquor at present or any later inserted in the enforcement act without changing the amendment would be unconstitutional.

The law now provides that "no one shall . . . purchase . . . any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioner to do so," and holds that "any one who . . . violates . . . any of the provisions of this chapter, for which offense a special penalty is not prescribed, shall be fined for a first offense not more than $500."

Those handling liquor cases at the justice department believe the supreme court would hold this section valid. Unlawful transportation is not mentioned in the amendment either, they point out, but is in the enforcement act, and the highest tribunal ruled that the amendment was intended to prohibit the traffic in liquor and that transportation was a part.

MRS. TURMAN TO SPEAK

City Club Will Hear Talk on Work of Women Voters.

An address by Mrs. R. L. Turman, regional director of the Georgia League of Women Voters, on "The Past and Future of the Georgia League of Women Voters" will feature the weekly meeting of the City Club of Atlanta at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

TEXTILE INSTITUTE WILL SHUN POLITICS

Group Votes To Take No Part in Legislative Programs.

New York, October 16.—(P)—The Cotton Textile Institute, Inc., today defeated, 450 to 145, a proposal to permit participation by the institute in legislative and political questions.

The proposal was sponsored by Ebe E. Whitman, woolen and cotton mill operator, who had advocated permanent elimination of night work as a cure for overproduction.

The action of the institute at its annual meeting means that members may continue to operate as in the past, with no agreement or legislation to curb overproduction.

This action was taken by the more than 125 manufacturers representing mill in the principal cotton manufacturing sections in the country, although in his address President Walker D. Hines said more must be accomplished to correct overproduction. This may be achieved, he said, "as the mills more and more adjust their production to demand and maintain a proper regard for costs of production."

Hines, who has been president since the institute was founded in 1926, was re-elected by the board of directors, but in a statement later he said that because of demands on his "time and strength," he would quit in December, although he suggested that at that time the executive committee could make him chairman of the board and install George A. Sloan, present secretary, as president.

Hines said that his interest and confidence in the institute were greater than ever and that notwithstanding the proposed change he would expect to give a great deal of attention to the institute's work.

Besides Hines other officers elected included Henry L. Lippitt, of Providence, R. I., and T. M. Marchant, of Greenville, S. C., as vice presidents.

400 Woodmen Meet

Friday at Americus For Log Rolling

Americus, Ga., October 16.—(Special.)—Americus Woodmen are preparing to welcome 400 visitors who are expected to attend the meeting of the Dixie Log Rolling Association here Friday. The morning sessions of the association will be held in the auditorium of the Carnegie library, with the public invited to attend, while the afternoon will be devoted to the transaction of business.

At noon the visitors, their wives and sweethearts, will be guests of Americus Woodmen at a monster barbecue to be given at the Americus municipal playground and the secret work will be exemplified at the night session in Woodmen hall, Wheatley building, on Windsor avenue.

The welcome address will be delivered by James A. Fort, mayor of Americus, and former State Senator Ed Rivers, of Lakeland, will be the chief speakers of the day. James W. Smith is general chairman in charge of arrangements of the gathering.

REUNITED BY DETOUR

Sign Brings Family Together After 46 Years.

Lepanto, Ark., October 16.—(P)—A kingdon't might have been lost for want of a nail, but here is one about a couple united after 46 years because of a detour sign.

John Frisby left his home in St. Louis in 1883 and saw a lot of the world. He finally settled in Lepanto. His family never heard from him.

His sister, Mrs. J. C. Polkinghorne, and her husband were touring the south. On highway 61 a sign told them to detour. They did, and passed down Lepanto's main street. Mrs. Polkinghorne saw something familiar about a man she passed, and conquered by curiosity, asked him who he was.

It was her brother.

ANTI-RELIGIOUS SCHOOLS OPENED BY RUSS UNIONS

Moscow, October 16.—(P)—Opening of nine additional anti-religious universities in towns of Moscow province has been ordered by the Central Trade Union headquarters with appropriate tion of 52,000 rubles (about $20,000) to finance the venture.

The union headquarters also instructed trade union organizations throughout the soviet union to appropriate from their cultural fund a fixed sum each month to local organizations of militant atheists for anti-religious propaganda.

Night schools have been opened in many large factories and clubs in Moscow to prepare a body of trained anti-religious propagandists and several Moscow churches recently have been converted into anti-religious museums.

What purported to be the first anti-religious universities in the world were opened simultaneously in Leningrad and Moscow October 10. That in Leningrad was named for Stepanoff Skvortsoff, and enrolled 300 students of whom 47 were women. More than 400 students were enrolled at the Moscow university.

"We have all taken risks in the making of war and in the going into wars. Isn't it time, my friends, that we should take some risks to secure peace?"

—RAMSAY MacDonald, Premier of Great Britain.

The Fight to Ban War

"The symbol of a great page in history," is a typical press characterization of Premier MacDonald's visit to our shores, with his camp-fire talks with President Hoover, his fervent plea for peace delivered in the American Senate Chamber at Washington, the outburst of acclaim for the man and his mission from American press and people, and the dispatch from London of the invitation to France, Italy, and Japan to join the English-speaking Powers in a naval parley in London in January. The object of this Conference in January is to promote world peace through naval disarmament.

There are various ways in which the international political world interprets the significance of the Prime Minister's visit to Washington and from the great mass of editorial comment, "The Literary Digest" this week presents in comprehensive form and in a non-partisan spirit, the impression that his visit has created in this country and the effect it will have ultimately in banning war.

This is only one of the enlightening articles in The Digest for October 19th. In addition to this, you will surely wish to read:

Progress of Presbyterian College Cited in Report To Annual Georgia Synod

Florida Synod Is Invited To Assist in Operation of South Carolina Institution.

Rabun Gap, Ga., October 16.—(AP) Some 100 pastors and elders attending the annual convention of the Presbyterian synod of Georgia here today heard encouraging reports of the progress of Presbyterian college at Clinton, S. C., and extended an invitation to the synod of Florida in session at Ocala, Fla., to assist in the operation of the institution.

The Rev. Dr. D. H. McCauley, acting as moderator of the session, an office to which he was elected last night, while the synod instructed the invitation to be telegraphed to the Rev. W. T. Simpson, of Brunswick, Ga., who is representing the Georgia organization at the meeting of the Florida synod.

The Rev. Sterling L. Hunter, of Cornelia, Ga., has been chosen as temporary clerk. The Rev. Dr. A. L. Patterson, of Savannah, Ga., is stated clerk and the Rev. L. A. Davis, of Marietta, Ga., is permanent clerk.

Dr. G. G. Mayes, of Winnesboro, S. C., vice chairman of the board of trustees of Presbyterian college, told in optimistic language of the operation of the school, praising the Rev. John McSwain, president, as an executive and mentioning the fact that the enrollment of new students this fall was the largest in the school's history. He said the campaign to liquidate the institution's debt was well under way in South Carolina and the Georgia synod endorsed its action of last year when an agreement regarding the school was entered into with the South Carolina organization.

Auxiliary Meets. The women's synodical auxiliary of Georgia held separate sessions under Mrs. Audley Morton, of Athens, Ga., acting president in the absence of Mrs. E. G. Abbott, of Columbus.

About 50 women were present. At a business meeting attention was called to reports that a collecting agency, once repudiated by the synod, again was attempting to force the payment of subscriptions to a campaign for the financing of schools. In behalf of the synod it was stated that all subscribers are released from their obligations when they are unable to make payments and any movement to the contrary should be disregarded.

The synod is meeting at the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school, an institution which it maintains for mountain boys and girls. As a result of an invitation accepted late today, however, the synod will meet next year outside of the state for the first time in its history. The invitation was extended by the Rev. Samuel Bowles, of Clinton, S. C., treasurer of Thornwell orphanage. It was pointed out in discussion preceding acceptance that, while the synod would be meeting outside of its own territory, it would still be in session on its own grounds, as both Thornwell orphanage and Presbyterian college are joint property of the Georgia and South Carolina synods.

It was suggested by Mr. Bowles that the South Carolina synod might be induced to meet at the same time and place. A meeting was scheduled for tonight to discuss the synod's work.

Thomas Passes Million-Dollar Mark in Cotton

Thomasville, Ga., October 16.—(Special.)—Thomas county, for the first time in its history, stepped out this fall into the million-dollar class in cotton production. According to official United States government figures, received here last night, there had been a record in this county up to and including September 30, 11,575 bales of cotton, and as it has averaged to the grower more than 17 1/2 cents per pound, and more than 500 pounds to the bale, the cash receipts for the crop have already passed the million-dollar mark.

Ginning is not yet completed, and the outlook now is for a crop of about 13,000 bales, which is the largest produced here in any year since the advent of the boll weevil. Up to and including September 30, 1928, ginnings for Thomas county were only 4,096 bales, so that the crop of last year was only a little more than 35 per cent of ginnings to the same date this year.

PEANUT GROWERS MAY ORGANIZE AT MEET FRIDAY

Albany, October 16.—(AP)—Peanut growers of Georgia and other states have been invited to attend a meeting here Friday for the purpose of considering a peanut marketing organization.

W. W. Webb, of the state bureau of markets, who has called the meeting, was instrumental in arousing the sentiment that resulted in formation in 1925 of the Georgia Peanut Growers' Co-operative Association, though he has had no part in conduct of the organization. Several members of the Georgia delegation in congress have been asked to attend the meeting.

Mr. Webb has advised farmers to withhold their peanut crop from the market until after the conference here Friday.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO LEWIS STONE; CRUELTY CHARGED

Los Angeles, October 16.—(AP)—Lewis Stone, screen star, has been granted a divorce from Florence Odette Stone, actress, on the ground of cruelty. Stone, who entered the suit under the name of Shepard Stone, his legal name, testified his wife had a fine appreciation of the dramatic but carried it to excess in her home life. "Her appreciation of the artistic and dramatic was supreme," Stone said. "Whenever we had guests she was very sweet, a most charming lady and then the moment we were left alone she began to abuse me."

In answer to a question by the court, Stone said: "She would pat me on the head with one hand, telling me what a fine fellow I was, and slap my face with the other. I don't recall that affection, she was affectionate."

They were married in September, 1920, and separated June 21, 1928. Miss Oakley did not appear in court.

Atlanta Boy Named To Freshman Committee At Columbia College

Robert M. Bandy, of 895 Virginia circle, Atlanta, has been made a member of the committee of 25 of the freshman class at Columbia college, Columbia university, New York city, and also has been elected a member of the sub-committee on promotion, according to word received here Wednesday. He is a graduate of Boys' High school here.

The committee of 25 is a group composed of representatives of each section of contemporary civilization, a freshman requisite course, which concerns itself with the welfare of the first-year men at Columbia.

CHARGES OF WIFE BRANDED AS 'LIES'

Chicago, October 16.—(AP)—Frank Biege, alias Perry, today characterized the charges of his wife that he participated in or knew about most of the recent major crimes of Chicago gangsters.

"I don't know Al Capone," he said, "is a woman of great imagination. I haven't seen her for a year."

Mrs. Biege in a statement to State's Attorney Swanson described her husband as a "personal executioner" for Al (Scarface) Capone, now in a Philadelphia jail. She named Capone as the man who dictated a score of killings, including that of Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggan (the first machine gun assassination), Frank (Lule) in Brooklyn, and the gang massacre of last Valentine's Day.

"Do you think I would tell my wife, even if I did do anything wrong?" Biege asked reporters. "I am not that dirty wretch. I don't know Al Capone; and I don't know Ben Newmark, the fellow she says I told her I killed."

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, revealed that Mrs. Biege had made her charges in a 24-page statement to him several months ago. Biege, according to Roche, was a bodyguard of Al Capone and may have been in a position to know many Capone secrets. Whether Biege repeated what he learned to his wife, Roche could not say. The statement of Mrs. Biege stood unsupported in its main charges, he said.

BORGLUM SAYS HIS INDICTMENT IS MERE FARCE

San Antonio, Texas, October 16.—(AP)—Anton Borglum, deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial project, declared today in a statement issued here that the indictment against him returned by DeKalb county (Georgia) grand jury on September 9 "is farcical and designed to embarrass and annoy the owners of Stone Mountain."

The indictment, similar to one returned five years ago and later dropped, charges Borglum with malicious mischief and larceny in connection with the disappearance of a model from the memorial project after he was ousted as sculptor.

Borglum declared "persons who brought the indictment will be the last to appear to press the charges. The original indictment was so prejudicial that the people who brought it dared not face the courts in North Carolina and test it when I presented myself for the test, and eventually that action was null and void."

PRESIDENT HOOVER TO MAKE ADDRESS AT CURIE FUNCTION

Washington, October 16.—(AP)—President Hoover has consented to make a brief address October 30 at the time Madame Curie is presented with a gram of radium at the Academy of Sciences in Washington.

The famous French woman scientist will arrive in the capital, October 29 and will be a guest at the White House during her stay of two days.

TWO BUILDINGS OF CHURCH WILL GO ON BLOCK

Ashland, Ky., October 16.—(AP)—Two church buildings, property of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, have been ordered sold at public auction here next Saturday to satisfy mortgage claims of the Hibernian Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran ordered the sale of a building constructed three years ago at a cost of $50,000, and of an old building in the business section, said to have a value of $100,000, which the congregation was unable to sell after erecting the new one.

The church borrowed $175,000 from the New Orleans bank, giving both pieces of property as security. This sum covered cost of building and the amount of an old debt.

SEABOARD REPORTED IN POWER CONTROL

Tampa Paper Says Electric Companies Own Most of Stock.

Tampa, Fla., October 16.—(AP)—The Tampa Tribune this morning says that control of the Seaboard Air Line railway apparently has passed into hands of a group of men closely allied with large electric power companies of the southeast and consolidation with another large transportation line is possible.

"Under the new financing plan announced last week, W. H. Cloverdale, New York, became chairman of the board and a new directorate was elected composed of persons having power concerns in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas," the article says.

"To those familiar with the new plans, since the sale of the big block of Seaboard stock held by the estate of the late Davies Warfield, long chairman of the board, a consolidation with another line seems probable," the newspaper continues. Three lines are mentioned—the Illinois Central, Norfolk & Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Mr. Cloverdale, according to the Tribune, is chairman of the board of the Pierce Petroleum Company; president of the Canadian Steamship Company; of the Midland Shipbuilding Company, and is a director of several other large corporations, including half a dozen railroads.

The new directors as listed by the newspaper include Preston S. Ark-

NASSAU HARBOR IS AGAIN OPEN TO LARGE SHIPS

Nassau, Bahamas, October 16.—(AP) Nassau harbor is again open to large shipping, the work of replacing buoys destroyed by the hurricane has been completed by the board of pilotage under the direction of the bishop of Nassau, an ardent yachtsman.

Rehabilitation has progressed so rapidly here that in the city few traces of the storm are now visible. Attention is now being given damaged roadways connecting the various settlements of New Providence island with the capital city of Nassau.

R. B. WHITAKER DIES AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., October 16.—(AP)—R. B. Whitaker, 57, well-known resident of Columbus, died at his home last night after an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Whitaker was born in Osweatchee, Ala. He is survived by a son, two brothers and a sister, all of Columbus.

Mr. Whitaker was president of the Georgia Power Company, the Georgia Light & Power Company, the Louisiana Power Company, and the Mississippi Power & Light Company; E. Y. Yates, Birmingham, Ala., vice president of the Southeastern Power & Light Company, and general manager of the Alabama Power Company.

Other new members listed are Oscar Wells, Birmingham, bank president, former president of the American Bankers' Association, and Norman H. Davis, financial advisor to President Woodrow Wilson at the peace conference, and at one time acting secretary of state in the Wilson administration, the Tribune says.

Children Hurt In School Crash Near Recovery

Quitman, Ga., October 16.—(AP)—The condition of more than a score of children injured yesterday in the collapse of a portion of the Oak Hill school building, near here, was reported to be satisfactory today and their complete recovery was expected shortly. The principal, G. P. Gunnels, who was believed to have been the most seriously injured, was removed to his home today from a hospital and was said to be improving.

THIRD FLORIDA PAPER BOUGHT BY ROBERT GORE

De Land, Fla., October 16.—(AP)—Purchase of the De Land News by the Gore Publishing Company, the third Florida newspaper to be bought by the Robert H. Gore interests, was announced today. The company last week announced purchase of the De Land Sun, and representatives said today that the two papers would be merged under the name of the Sun-News.

The Fort Lauderdale Daily News also is owned by the Gore Company. The first paper will be issued under the merger and under the new name Thursday.

Harold Van Trump is business manager and Arthur Griffith managing editor of the new paper. Both were formerly executives of the Fort Lauderdale Daily News.

Chest Funds Make Possible Fight Against Tuberculosis

Atlanta's unceasing fight against the menace of tuberculosis and other devastating illness among its poorer citizens would be weakened by the community's failure to provide the complete budget of the Community Chest, appeal for support of which will be made in a general public canvass October 21 to 25.

This statement of the result of failure was part of a review Wednesday of the needs of the Chest and its 39 societies of helpfulness and social service, one of the most important of which is the Tuberculosis Association.

The Tuberculosis Association of Atlanta, one of the pioneer organizations of the United States in research, treatment and preventive measures in the war on the white plague, was said to have been hampered for several years by shortage of funds, with a need that appears greater in the coming year than ever.

"There is great need of more visiting nurses, for work among both whites and negroes," said Miss Mary Dickinson, executive secretary of the association. "Particularly is the need of additional work great among the negro population, whose liability to the disease is greater, who have less knowledge of the necessity of precautions and prevention, who seek aid and treatment only in extremities, and who in their function as servants are constant sources of infection for the rest of the community."

Two Workers Needed. "Educational work and survey among the public school children demand two workers. We have the part time of only one at present, whose services are lent by the state board of health. We have been forced to dispense with services of both visitors and educational workers because of the reduction of Community Chest budgets."

The normal number of tubercular families served by a nurse with best effect is about 80, it was pointed out, no more being allotted to a single worker in cities where the great work of tuberculosis prevention and treatment is adequately endowed. In Atlanta each visitor has considerably more than 100 families, nearer 150, under constant care.

"Like every other agency of the Chest," said Miss Dickinson, "we try to make our means go as far as possible, spreading the service thin at times in the effort to make it as wide as we can. This means that its effectiveness is reduced all along the line, when it could be made, we think, altogether effective with our full budget."

Co-operation of Doctors. Much of the effectiveness of the Tuberculosis Association under existing circumstances, it was said, is due to co-operation of physicians, 27 doctors rendering free service, including daily clinics, to the indigent patients, and due also to the Fulton County Dental Society, which provides the daily services of a dentist at the association headquarters in Forrest avenue, to which it was moved from the old quarters in East Cain street, and to other organizations co-operating without charge.

The value of the association's work is shown by a 10 months' record of treating 2,110 patients, with 4,945 treatments, in 1,444 homes. With six visiting nurses employed in that period 9,687 visits were made to homes where infection existed, and 143 patients were placed in sanatoriums.

The Tuberculosis Association will share in the $480,000 budget which covers the minimum cost of social service work in Atlanta, and to provide which appeal will be made to the public next week.

"Like every other agency of the Chest," said Miss Dickinson, "we try to make our means go as far as possible, spreading the service thin at times in the effort to make it as wide as we can. This means that its effectiveness is reduced all along the line, when it could be made, we think, altogether effective with our full budget."

Members of chapters of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity from seven states will gather in Atlanta beginning Friday for a southern district meeting, according to announcement Wednesday by Thomas H. Eubanks, vice president of the local chapter. This is the third convention of the fraternity to be held in the south, the two former ones having been held in Chattanooga.

This convention will, according to the local officers, exceed anything ever attempted by the organization in the south.

M. H. Mathews, Jr., is chairman of convention activities and is assisted by L. J. Cole, in charge of hotel arrangements; H. F. Whidby, in charge of dance and banquet arrangements; Kenneth D. Cooper, in charge of dates committee, and Julian Burns and L. P. Margardt in charge of program advertising.

It is expected that a number of the national officers of the fraternity will be present at this meeting, and the plans as outlined by Paul F. Hammond, president of Georgia Alpha, call for a program of southern expansion and adoption of a relief association, something unique in fraternal organizations, by the southern chapters.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR JACK WHITE AFTER SUICIDE TRY

Little hope was held by physicians late Wednesday night for recovery of Jack White, 63, of a Formwalt street address, who was taken to Grady hospital Wednesday, suffering from loss of blood, received, it is said, when he cut his throat with a razor.

According to White's daughter, Mrs. Jewell Tuggle, he has been dependent over an incurable malady from which he is suffering.

Boxing and Music On Safety Rally Card Saturday

Featured by eighteen rounds of boxing and music by the Letter Carriers' band, an elaborate program of entertainment is announced for the October Drivers' Safety Rally of the Atlanta Safety Council. This meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in Taft hall, City Auditorium, and will be addressed by A. L. Belle Isle, vice president of the Black & White Cab Company, who has just returned from Washington, where he attended a conference on traffic congestion called by Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

Mr. Belle Isle will stress to the 1,000 commercial vehicle drivers and their families who will be present the importance of care in handling their vehicles.

In accordance with the custom of placing these meetings in charge of interested companies operating commercial vehicle fleets, the Saturday program is being handled entirely by Rogers, Inc., which has reserved 75 seats for its own drivers and is making other arrangements for the entertainment of those present.

J. N. Moore, chairman of the Safety Council's fleet activities, has announced that the General Outdoor Advertising Company, which has awarded every three months to the firm in the Drivers' Safety Contest making the best record, will be awarded at this meeting to the Pan-American Petroleum Corporation, winner for the period of July to September. M. I. Slagavol, district manager of the company, will be present to accept the trophy, which was won in competition with 42 other fleets and 1,750 vehicles.

Boxers for the evening's entertainment together with their weights are as follows:

Jim Thomas vs. Matt Sheppard, colored, weight 135; Joe Cleveland vs. Roy Sheppard, colored, weight 140; main bout, Trible, Rogers, Inc., vs. Wilkins, Sears-Roebuck, white, 160.

PERJURY IS CHARGED TO PANTAGES' WITNESS

Grand Jury Indicts Man Who Testified for Theater Magnate.

Los Angeles, October 16.—(AP)—Charges of perjury and denial by a defense witness of statements credited to him by district attorney's investigators overshadowed today the issue at stake in the trial of Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, on a statutory charge.

While Garland Biffle, a defense witness, was indicted by the grand jury on perjury charges, Dr. C. H. Herd was summoned to the stand by Pantages' attorneys and created a sensation in his repudiation of statements which he was alleged to have made the day following the asserted attack on Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer.

Herd's testimony came in a state cross-examination. Reading from a typewritten statement, Prosecutor Robert P. Stewart asked the witness: "Did you not say to two investigators that you thought the first scream Eunice Pringle made was part of an act in the theater near your office?"

"Yes, sir."

"And that you thought the second scream was a riot in the theater?"

"Yes, sir."

"And did you not tell these investigators that you knew nothing about the case and that your son knew more about it?"

"No, sir."

"Then did you not tell them that you didn't want to get mixed up in the affair and that your son would go to the district attorney?"

"No, sir."

Herd also testified that he had known Pantages for nine years. He is an optician and rents eight rooms on the second floor of the theater building which Pantages formerly owned. It was in the private office of the theater magnate on the mezzanine floor that Miss Pringle claimed Pantages attacked her last August 9.

Q—Where were you standing when you first saw Pantages the day of the alleged attack?

A—In the doorway of my reception room.

Q—You saw Pantages come out of his main office?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where did he go?

A—To the theater exit door on the second floor.

Q—What did he do?

A—He stopped at the open door.

Q—Did you see him make a motion?

A—No, sir, not any.

Q—How far away were you?

A—About 50 feet.

Testimony of state witnesses alleged Pantages seated Miss Pringle in the theater before taking her to the scene of the alleged attack and then returned, motioned to her and took her to his little office room.

Herd testified he saw Pantages a "high sign" when he saw him emerge from his main office.

CONCRETE HIGHWAY NOT TO BE READY FOR ATHENS GAME

A hope frequently expressed in the last few days by football fans that they would be given a dustless ride to Athens for the Tech-Georgia game December 7, through the construction of a concrete highway between Lawrenceville and Bogart, was doomed to disappointment Wednesday. The state highway department announced that a contract for paving the road had not yet been awarded, and that, if it had, there was not sufficient time before the game to construct it.

With the exception of the Lawrenceville-Bogart section, the highway is paved to Athens.

MEN PERSUADED TO BUY LIQUOR NOT TO BLAME

Richmond, Va., October 16.—(AP)—Judge D. Lawrence Groner, of the United States district court, holds that a person induced to violate the national prohibition act by law enforcement officers should not be punished. In his instruction to a jury here yesterday in the case of A. G. Blankenship, of Petersburg, Judge Groner said "a man who is a law-abiding citizen and who is induced by prohibition officers to violate the law should be acquitted. The primary crime is with the officer and not with the citizen." Blankenship testified that two men whom he later learned were federal agents persuaded him to buy liquor for them. He was acquitted after the jury had deliberated 20 minutes.

National Story League To Open Meeting Today

The eleventh annual conference of the eastern district of the National Story League will begin a three-day convention at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, with Mrs. Adlyn M. Ketter, of Harrisburg, Pa., president, presiding. The meeting will assemble several hundred delegates from practically every state in the eastern portion of the United States, according to Mrs. Ketter. The visitors will be welcomed by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta's public schools, who on Saturday will deliver an address on "The Lore of the Southern Mountain Folk."

Delegates from Harrisburg, Jacksonville, Reading, Rochester, Spartanburg, Washington and Tampa will deliver their reports at Thursday night's session. Friday's program includes the Rt. Rev. H. J. McKel, D. D., bishop of the diocese of Atlanta; Margaret Recker Kulp, who will speak on "Sources of Story Material;" Rev. Dr. W. W. Menninger, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, whose subject will be "The Story in Religious Education;" Dr. John B. Sale, who will give an address on "Stories from 'The Tree Named John,'" and numerous negro folk tales by Daphne Carraway.

MEXICAN SAYS LINDY'S MAYA HOP ADDED NOTHING

Mexico City, October 16.—(United Press.)—Ruins of ancient Maya cities photographed from the air by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his recent aerial survey of the Yucatan peninsula have been known to scientists since 1927. Alvaro Moreno Iribarren said in a letter to President Emilio Portes Gil today.

Iribarren, who claims to be an archeological authority, said a small group of explorers found the deserted cities, and more besides, on an exploration trip eight years ago.

TARIFF INCREASES FOR PECANS ASKED BY SENATOR HARRIS

Washington, October 16.—(Special.)—An amendment to the pending tariff bill proposing a substantial increase in the duties recommended by the senate finance committee on pecans was laid before the upper chamber today by Senator A. J. Harris, of Georgia.

CITY MAY CONDEMN LAND FOR OFFSET AT NORTH AVENUE

Probability that the city will be asked to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire the necessary property to eliminate the offset at Courtland street and North avenue loomed Wednesday when Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, announced that city representatives and property owners have been unable to agree on prices for tracts needed.

He probably will ask the streets committee at its regular session Friday afternoon to authorize the city attorney to institute suits.

ALABAMA BANKER FACES JURY TODAY ON FRAUD COUNTS

Birmingham, Ala., October 16.—(AP)—J. B. Lassiter, former president of two Birmingham banks, will be placed on trial tomorrow on the first of 16 indictments voted against him by a Jefferson county grand jury following failure of his two banks.

Definite opening was made possible when Judge H. P. Heflin today denied defense motions which sought to delay the hearing. Lassiter will be tried first on a charge of accepting a deposit in the Avondale Bank and Savings Company, knowing the institution to be insolvent.

Southwest Georgia A. M. E. Conference Convenes at Shellman

Shellman, Ga., October 16.—(Special.)—The southwest Georgia annual conference of the A. M. E. church convened in a five-day session in Bethel A. M. E. church here today. Bishop W. A. Fountain, of Atlanta, episcopal head of the A. M. E. denomination in Georgia, with his presiding elders, conducted the religious exercises in the opening session of the conference. Dr. John Harmon, pastor of the First church, Columbus, delivered the annual sermon, which was followed by holy communion. Bishop Fountain celebrated.

Conference organization was perfected in the election of the following: Dr. J. R. Taliaferro, E. D. Baldwin, M. L. Fleming, secretary of church periodicals; Drs. F. M. Johnson, J. D. Davis, C. Johnson, J. W. Dennis, Dr. J. A. Hadley, dispatch news reporter; Dr. W. O. P. Sherman, Savannah Morning News; Rev. David Morris, Macon Telegraph; Rev. J. F. Shumake, H. L. Weston and G. W. Richardson, marshals, presiding elders district budget and pastors' reports on condition of charges were made in full here today which showed increase of members over last year's reports.

The following representatives were present: Dr. J. T. Wilkerson, of the A. M. E. book concern, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. J. A. Hadley, A. M. E. Review, Philadelphia; Dr. G. B. Jackson, Southern Christian Recorder, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. C. A. Wingfield, Western Christian Recorder, Los Angeles, Cal.; Dr. R. J. Jefferson, The Voice of Mission, New York.

Fountain, Augusta; Dr. J. E. Brown, Americus, Ga.; Dr. Frank Moore, Columbus; L. G. Glass, Thomasville; H. E. Davis, Valdosta; E. W. Evans, Macon, and Dr. C. G. Wiley, Macon.

WOMAN HURT BY AUTO

Mrs. Mattie Bradwell Is Injured.

Mrs. Mattie Bradwell, of Alpharetta, was treated at Grady hospital for injuries received when she was struck down by an automobile Wednesday afternoon while crossing Whitehall street at Hunter. The automobile was driven by Mrs. N. J. Pittman, of Hapeville. The latter will appear in recorder's court to answer charges of reckless driving.

FISH WEIGHING 2,000 LBS. FOUND IN FLORIDA RIVER

Tallahassee, Fla., October 16.—(AP)—This is another of those well-known "so big" fish stories, but this time the fish was not only "so big" but its rarity in Florida is vouchsafed in official circles.

The state capital's early risers today viewed with interest a giant denizen of the sea, six feet long and weighing about 2,000 pounds, which had been caught at what is known as Mud Cove, in Franklin county, by Sheriff Angus Morrison, of Wakulla county. The fish was brought here for Shellfish Commissioner T. R. Hodges to identify, and was placed on exhibit in the capitol yard.

Mr. Hodges consigned it to the sunfish family, and said it was technically, or piscatorially, known as the Mola-Mola Shok, which inhabits only South American waters. It had evidently been propelled into Florida territory by the late storm the commissioner said.

Only one other such fish is known to have been found in Florida waters, and that discovery was made some years ago at Pensacola, he said. It proved a handful for ten husky negroes in placing it on a truck. It will probably be mounted for exhibit in the shellfish department.

YEAR DELAY PLAN ON ALL DIVORCES ADVERSELY VOTED

Memphis, Tenn., October 16.—(AP)—The national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws today voted down, 24 to 23, a proposal that divorce decrees be held up one year before being made final but approved in substance, the main feature of a proposed uniform divorce law—defining jurisdiction of the courts.

A section of the act providing for the granting of a decree nisi, or interlocutory decree, to be in effect for 12 months or for such time as the first particular state adopting the law should determine, also failed of approval.

10 DRUMMER-BOYS ARE SOUGHT HERE BY MARINE CORPS

Lieutenant George E. Monson, officer in charge of the local marine corps recruiting station at 791-2 South Pryor street, has received orders to enlist ten 16-year-old boys during the month of October to learn to be drummers and trumpeters, it was announced here Wednesday.

It was also stated that many other vacancies exist in various branches of the marine corps, and that men are wanted for duty in the Hawaiian islands, Philippines, Nicaragua, China, Haiti and Guam.

Gillooley Hits Charge.

William F. Gillooley, indicted by the Fulton county grand jury here Tuesday for larceny after trust from the Southern Wheel and Rim Company, in a statement Wednesday declared that the charge of "any criminal intent" on his part was "ridiculous" and that the entire matter was between him and T. A. Fox, no creditors or stockholders being involved.

WOMAN WED FOR 49 YEARS KILLS HUSBAND

Summit, N. J., October 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Laura Mathilda Titus, 70, white-haired and wrinkled, today slew her 78-year-old husband with an ax. The victim, James Titus, married her 49 years ago.

Mrs. Titus, who weighs little more than 100 pounds, told police she slew her husband because she couldn't endure any longer his abuses. He drank heavily, she said, and was intoxicated this morning when she struck him twice with an ax.

DETECTIVE SUES LABOR DEFENSE FOR MONEY DUE

Gastonia, N. C., October 16.—(AP)—H. G. Gulley, Raleigh private detective, today filed suit in superior court here against the International Labor Defense and four individuals for $2,500 alleged to be due him for services in connection with the Lory tent colony murder case.

Gulley named, besides the organization, Juliet Stuart Poyntz, of New York, formerly head of the International Labor Defense in this section, and Attorneys J. Leon Josephson, of Newark, N. J., and Tom P. Jimison, of W. H. Abernathy, of Charlotte. Gulley alleges that he was retained to ferret out evidence for the defense of the seven members and leaders of the National Textile Workers' Union now on trial in Charlotte on charges of murder and assault growing out of the shooting on June 7 of O. F. Alderholt, chief of police of Gastonia, and three other policemen. He alleges that his fee was to be paid by the International Labor Defense and the individuals named in the suit.

Catarrh is Terrible Drain on Vitality

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that Catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

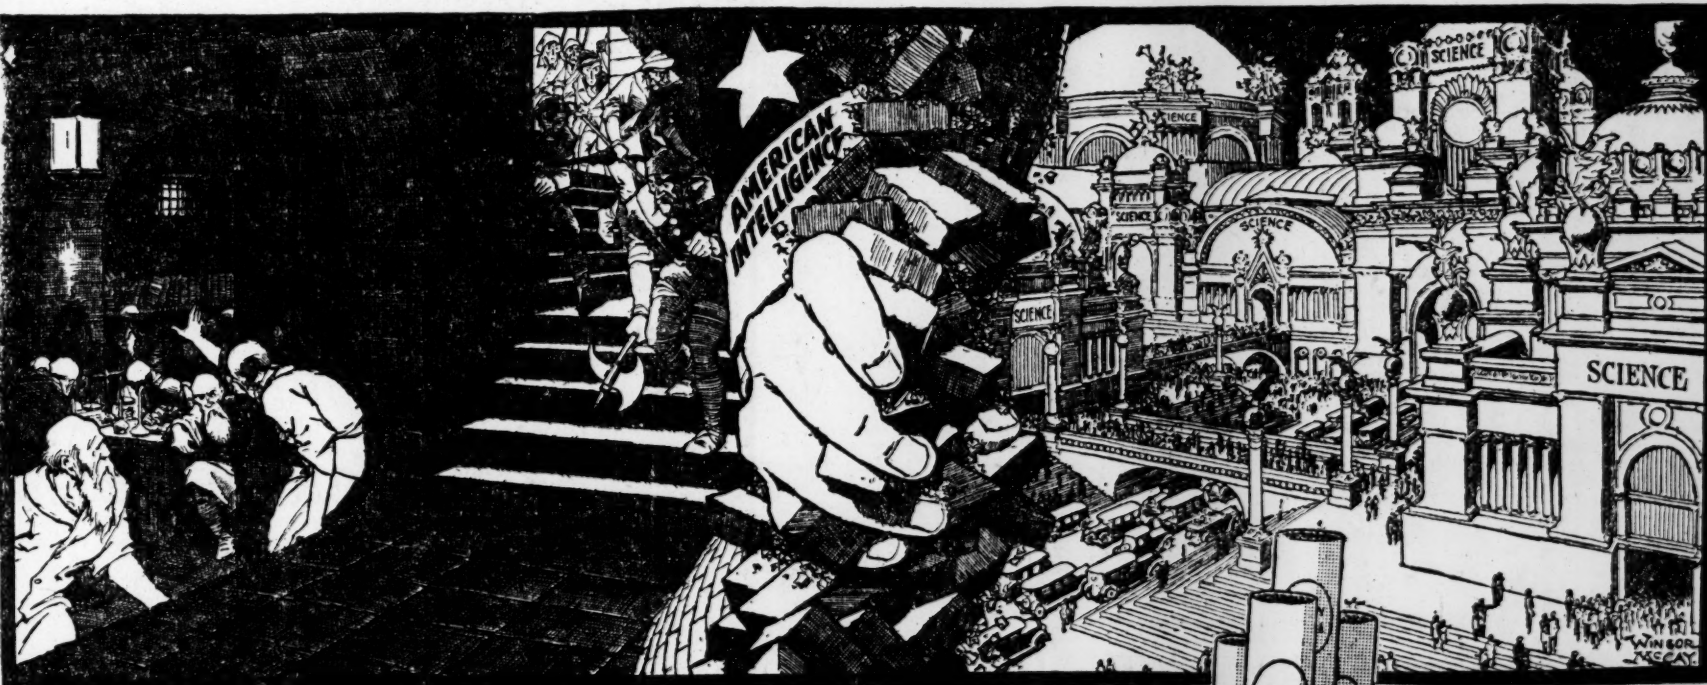

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Nose and Throat Specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective and agreeable are those contained in the preparation, known to your druggist as, Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, Runion's White Wonder Salve gives quick and most delightful relief from the irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and absolutely harmless, Runion's Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

Ask your druggist for Runion's White Wonder Salve today or mail thirty-five cents for a family jar, postpaid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 52 Greil Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. Our slogan—"Perfect satisfaction or your money back."—(adv.)

No More "Iron Maidens"! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Never again need scientific research grope in darkened cellars behind doors bolted against torture. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has swept before it the ignorant barrier which stupidly impeded men of genius and science marches proudly on.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

In modern buildings
electricity is
lamplighter, water boy, furnace man

The space occupied by electrical equipment in a modern building is small . . . but its importance is large—and it grows still larger as the uses of electricity multiply.

Better electrification today means better lighting, better elevator service, better labor-saving devices for home, office, or factory, better ventilating and pumping equipment, better cooking equipment.

Westinghouse, a pioneer in electrical development, provides equipment for better electrification in every type of building. Through the widespread Westinghouse organization a complete electrical installation can be supplied under undivided responsibility.

Fulton National Acquires Capital Stock and Assets Of Peachtree Road Bank

Buckhead Institution Will Be Operated as Branch—John Schley Thompson To Be Manager.

Purchase of the entire capital stock and assets of the Peachtree Road Commercial bank, located at Buckhead, by the Fulton National bank, was announced here Wednesday. It is to be operated as a branch of the downtown institution.

This marks the first branch acquisition of the Fulton National in its 19 years of successful operation in Atlanta and is in line with the general policy of expansion of banks in all parts of the country.

It was pointed out that a branch could not have been established in the Buckhead section prior to the expansion of the city limits of Greater Atlanta.

The Peachtree Road Commercial bank, which is situated at the intersection of Peachtree road and Pace's Ferry road, is the only banking institution between Peachtree street and the town of Roswell, and serves some 25,000 persons. The increase in population in the vicinity and the desire to give better service there are said to have been important factors in the decision to establish the new branch.

Few Details Remain. Only a few minor details remain to be worked out before the Fulton can take over the institution. The move already has been given the approval of the controller of currency.

The Peachtree Road bank was established in 1925 and has enjoyed a steady growth since that time. The Buckhead section, which is said to be one of the richest in the state on the basis of per capita wealth, has become one of the most active suburban centers near Atlanta in the past few years and is the trading center for a large rural population as well as an extensive residential section.

Gordon P. Donaldson, president of Peachtree Road bank, stated Wednesday that the merger had been effected in order to give its patrons better service.

"The growth of this section," he declared, "necessitated larger resources than we were able to provide and this end is attained by the merger with the large national institution."

Pleased at Transaction. "We are greatly pleased in announcing the acquisition of the Peachtree Road Commercial bank," declared Ryburn G. Clay, president of the Fulton National. "Our bank will be able to bring to the patrons, to our own customers who live in the Buckhead section and to those others who will become depositors, the commercial savings and trust features of a large and modern institution. We are very happy to have associated with us the former officers and directors of the Peachtree Road Commercial bank."

Officers of the Peachtree Road Commercial bank are George P. Donaldson, president; T. N. Bussey, vice president; John Schley Thompson, cashier; Mrs. J. S. Thompson, assistant cashier. The directors are George P. Donaldson, T. N. Bussey, John Schley Thompson, George P. Donaldson, David N. Williams, Oscar F. Jones and V. A. Robinson.

Former officers and directors of the bank will continue their active interests in the bank after it becomes a branch. Mr. Thompson, who organized the bank, will remain with the Fulton as branch manager.

Officers and directors of the Fulton National are Ryburn G. Jones, chairman of the board; Ryburn G. Clay, president; Ronald L. Ransom, Frank W. Blalock and W. V. Crowley, vice presidents; Garnett C. Evans, cashier; W. Ralph DeLoach, Cone E. Bond and Leon A. Gilbert, assistant cashiers, and William Matthews, assistant trust officer. The directors are A. C. Hines, Ryburn G. Clay, Clarence Haverty, J. H. Hines, Ryburn G. Jones, Henry B. Kennedy, Thomas C. Law, J. R. Mobley, Frank G. North, R. S. Pringle, Langdon C. Quinn, W. L. Randall, Ronald Ransom, Dr. Humber Roy, Hoke Smith, Marion Smith, J. E. Skaggs, Simon S. Selig and F. O. Stone.

The Fulton National, which is the fourth largest banking institution in the state, has deposits, exclusive of its new branch, of $10,700,000.

ROBERT RAMSPECK WILL BE HONORED AT DINNER TONIGHT

Robert C. W. Ramspeck, congressman-elect from the fifth district, will be honored at a farewell dinner party at the Candler hotel, Decatur, at 7:30 o'clock tonight just prior to his departure for Washington, where he will take over his new duties.

The gathering is being sponsored by the Citizens Club of Decatur, of which Foster Law is president. Dr. W. S. Elkin, Jr., will be toastmaster for the occasion and an elaborate program of entertainment has been provided, including an address by Eugene H. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta.

The Emory University orchestra will be on hand, and Mrs. Sydney Hannon will contribute several vocal numbers.

Invitations have been extended to several Georgia congressmen and it is expected that a number of them will accept.

NAPIER TO LEAVE SUNDAY TO ATTEND LAWYERS' MEETING

George M. Napier, attorney-general, will leave Sunday for Memphis, where he will attend the meeting of the National Association of Attorney-Generals and the American Bar Association. He will be accompanied by response to the address of welcome before the attorney-general's association. The two meetings will extend from October 21 through October 25.

Audit Completed, Plans To Reopen Fannin Bank Made

The audit of the Fannin County Bank at Blue Ridge, which failed in September, has been completed and a plan suggested which, if carried out, will enable the bank to reopen in November, it was announced Wednesday by A. B. Mobley, state superintendent of banks.

Officers and directors of the institution are now working on the plan, he said. The bank closed following the defalcation and suicide of the cashier, J. F. Holden. At the time his shortage was estimated at about $30,000. Pending the determination of the bank's affairs, Mr. Mobley declined to make public details of the audit.

UNDERWOOD IS FREED ON CHARGES OF MURDER

Waiter, Accused of Slaying Mrs. Bertha Mae Powell, Acquitted by Jury.

Charles L. Underwood, waiter, Wednesday afternoon was acquitted by a jury in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court following trial on a charge of murder. Underwood claimed that Mrs. Bertha Mae Powell, with whose death he had been charged, killed herself. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty after ten minutes' deliberation.

Evidence in the case was purely circumstantial, and, in argument to the jury, Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens did not ask for the death penalty. Underwood was defended by Attorney John W. Thomas. Mrs. Powell died on August 15 in her rooms at 251 Woodward avenue.

Her throat was slashed, and officers testified at the trial that Underwood had bloodstains on his clothing. Underwood, in his statement to the jury, said that Mrs. Powell had a razor in her hand when he left her. He stated that he did not cut her throat or harm her in any way.

SCHOOL FOR BLIND RECOVERS PORTION OF FUNDS IN BANK

The Academy for the Blind at Macon has recovered 65 per cent of $2,143.32 lost through the failure of the Fourth National bank of Macon last November 26, it was revealed Wednesday in an audit of the school's accounts by Tom Wisdom, state auditor.

A total of $1,503.62 was on deposit to the credit of school funds at the time. In addition, there was an accumulated balance of $169.84 in the superintendent's account, and outstanding checks amounting to $636.70. Two dividends, one of 50 per cent and one of 15 per cent, have been made by the bank.

The treasurer, the report brought out, made good the whole of pupils' fund, which now consists of $11,000 worth of stock and bonds. The school has an annual appropriation of $45,000. All accounts were shown to be in good condition in the audit.

In the white school conducted by the academy there are 84 pupils, 33 of whom are girls and 51 boys. There are 34 students in the negro school, 1 boy and 17 girls.

"MEANEST THIEF" ROBS BLIND MAN OF GOODS AND CASH

This time the Atlanta police department is positive that the meanest of all mean thieves has made his appearance, previous nefarious and underhanded acts having paled into insignificance beside the robbery reported Wednesday morning. Entering the home of P. W. Starnes, of 647 Bankhead avenue, a blind man who makes a living selling cigars and cigarettes, an intruder calmly walked off with his entire stock in trade and $9 in cash.

Awakened from a sound sleep, Starnes groped his way around the room, calling for help. The intruder, however, seemingly noting that his victim was sightless, picked up all the valuables in sight and made his escape.

Flooding Stream Washes Mill Away; Owner Sues County

Macon, October 16.—(AP)—An old water mill, understood to have been operated on a creek near here for more than 60 years, was washed away in August, 1928, by flood waters and is now the bone of contention in a suit filed against Bibb county by J. D. Green, owner of the mill site. Green is suing for $1,500 damages, charging negligence by the county in constructing a concrete bridge on the Clinton road with too narrow an outlet for surplus water.

INFATUATION ENDS IN DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Woman Advertising Expert and Lover Found Dead in Hotel Room.

Wallingford, Conn., October 16.—(P)—Police were convinced today that Mrs. Anna Bryan Ayres, advertising expert, had been shot to death by William Gaylord, a bookkeeper, who then killed himself. Their bodies were found yesterday in a room at an inn.

Mrs. Ayres, 41, was the divorced wife of Ernest Ayres, former American professor, and mother of three children. Her home was in West Haven, Conn. Gaylord, 46, lived in East Hartford.

The bodies, with bullet wounds in their temples, were found by Robert Pratt, manager of the inn, who broke down the door of the room after repeated efforts to get an answer from the couple had failed.

The tragedy climaxed an infatuation which had its inception last summer and which brought a proposal of marriage from Gaylord, who planned to divorce his wife. Letters to Mrs. Ayres from Gaylord found in the room indicated she had refused to marry him. She was advertising head of the Berger brothers corset factory in New Haven.

Mrs. Ayres and Gaylord registered at the inn Monday night as Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gray, of New Haven. Dr. John H. Buffum, medical examiner, said murder and suicide had occurred four or five hours after the couple went to their room.

Mrs. Ayres' body was found in a chair. Sprawled at her feet was the body of her companion. Two empty shells were found in a revolver. The room contained numerous cigar and cigarette butts, but there was no evidence of a struggle.

Convinced that the man was responsible for both deaths, Dr. Buffum said there would be no coroner's inquest.

Gaylord's body was claimed by his wife. He was employed by the Eastern Transportation Company of Hartford.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract. When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colic, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address: The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

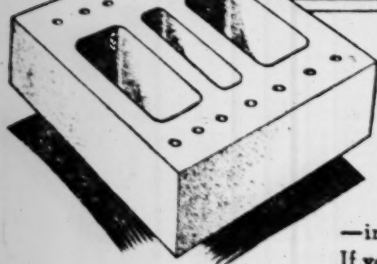

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—(adv.)

U. S. Officials, Here To Inspect Postoffice Sites, Entertained by Atlanta Clearing House Association

In the above group are seen visiting government officials from Washington with a number of prominent local citizens who were present at a luncheon at the Capital City Club Wednesday. At the left in a gray suit is J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue; bottom row, in dark suit, Congressman-elect Robert Ramspeck, and in line above him and back of him, W. B. Spann, of the Citizens & Southern Bank; Russell Whitman, J. D. Robinson, of the Fourth National Bank; second left, bottom row, Assistant Postmaster-General John W. Philip; above, A. E. Clift, of the Central of Georgia railroad; Haynes McFadden and Warren Moises; third from left, bottom row, R. F. Maddox, of the Atlanta & Lowry National Bank; above, Ronald Ransom, of the Fulton National Bank, and Bolling Jones, of the same bank; second from right, bottom row, Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury; above, J. S. Cohen and Clark Howell, Sr.; bottom right, Postmaster E. K. Large; above, H. Lane Young, of the Citizens & Southern Bank, and Chairman Wiley Moore, of the city council finance committee.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General John W. Philip and First Assistant Ferry K. Heath, of the United States treasury, were entertained at luncheon Wednesday at the Capital City Club by the Atlanta Clearing House Association. Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton National Bank, presided. Mr. Ransom introduced Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of the Atlanta & Lowry National Bank, who welcomed the guests of honor.

Mr. Philip, who formerly was postmaster at Dallas, Texas, paid a graceful tribute to Atlanta, saying that Atlanta was the one city in the south to which "Dallas took off her hat."

He explained the object of his visit to Atlanta in company with Mr. Heath, saying that the allotment for the new postoffice building site in Atlanta already had been made and that it was the purpose of the government to give the city a postoffice building commensurate not only with the present but for demands for decades ahead.

Inspection of Property.
"We have spent the morning," said he, "in inspecting some of the sites that have been offered and we are going to devote the remainder of the day to the same purpose. Tomorrow we will confer again with the representatives of those offering sites. Upon their return to Washington we will confer with the view of making a decision."

Mr. Philip made an interesting talk of the expansion of the postoffice department and of the determination of this administration to bring the service to the best possible state of perfection. He paid a glowing tribute to Postmaster Large of Atlanta, stating that no postmaster in the service had made a more creditable record, pointing to Atlanta as being one of the model postoffices of America. "The only thing needed now," he said, "is more room to meet the rapid expansion of the city's business and it is our purpose to provide this as soon as possible."

Mr. Heath told of the government's building expansion program, stating that with the appropriation already made the government now was proceeding to make Washington the handsomest capital city in the world, with new buildings that will be the pride of the nation.

Increased Facilities Needed.
"The government must have increased operating facilities here in Atlanta, and we are very much pleased with the prospect of an early solution of the problem of location. As soon as that is disposed of government architects will proceed with plans for the new postoffice building. We expect to have in hand all the facts bearing upon the situation before we leave Atlanta, and after our return to Washington we will make final recommendation of location."

Mr. Heath emphasized his amazement at the signs of prosperity growing here everywhere in the south, especially in Atlanta. "I know of no city in America," he said, "which in proportion to population, shows greater evidence of progress and prosperity. The strategic value of the city's location makes it one of the great distributing centers of the country. This must be kept in mind in the development of all governmental activities, and for this reason we are particularly anxious to erect here a new postoffice building that will not only meet present demands, but that will serve for a long time in the future."

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of homes have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

STEWARDSHIP MEET HELD AT WAYCROSS

At first glance all the young ladies look alike; but you are asked to find the Twins that are clothed exactly alike. Now then: upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the difference and find the two real Twins, because two and only two are identically the same.

Bulldogs Leave Tonight for Battle With Tarheels Saturday

SELLOUT SEEN FOR TECH-FLORIDA GAME

BULLDOGS OFF FOR TARHEEL TILT TONIGHT

Squad Recovers From Extreme Loss of Weight in Yale Game.

By Ralph McGill.
Georgia's football team expects to make the normal sag in the Pullman mattresses tonight when it sets out for Chapel Hill and the Tarheel game.

As late as yesterday it would not have made an impression on the old Simmons.

The steam bath of the Yale game, won 15 to 0 by the greatest and most tempestuous burning of energy seen in many a harvest moon, removed almost 200 pounds of weight from the men who played in the game.

The dozen linemen who played lost an average of 12 pounds each. Bobby Rose shed the most poundage, dropping 18 full pounds in the burning battle that consumed Mel Stevens' life. The other linemen lost from eight pounds on up to Rose's 18. The game seems to have settled, once and for all, the question of who burns up the most energy in a football game, the linemen or the backs.

LOST POUNDAGE.
The Georgia backs lost from five to seven pounds in running Yale to death. That is not surprising, as the linemen is tense for a longer period of time, must make his charge, must keep his feet going, must go through and block on offense, must block in the interference, must block for punts and go down field and do a half dozen more jobs than the backs.

All that terrific expenditure of energy with its consequent loss of weight, sapped the Georgia squad of an unusual amount of vitality, both physical and mental. They were listless and wan in the practice periods of Monday and Tuesday.

The sound did not get its weight back until yesterday, four days after the game of Yale.

CAREFUL HANDLING.
Georgia's coaches, from all reports, seemed to be quite aware of this condition and handled the squad carefully and in a dignified way. The team has come little but take light runs and exercises. Yesterday they did not have long for any one man.

This condition is one which the average football fan rarely considers in weighing the possibilities of a game. It is a serious and important problem for the team and coaches.

Obviously the Georgia team is just today getting back to normal physical condition. Day after tomorrow they will be called upon to again reach a high mental and physical peak if they would defeat the North Carolina eleven. It is not so much now the actual mechanical running of the plays. It becomes a problem of what the Georgia team can put into the game. Coach Collins reported after the game that his men had lost some weight. Florida Adkins, the giant who did not play, weighed 300 pounds. That was the most, by any individual on the Tarheel squad the day it defeated Tech at the Flats.

COOLER DAY.
It was somewhat cooler that day than the day at Athens. Then, too, the Tarheels were not called upon to do such a great amount of energy, especially the mental kind. They did not go into the game keyed to the devilish pitch that the Georgia men reached when they went into the Yale game.

So the Georgia team becomes all the

Outsider Wins At Newmarket

Newmarket, England, October 16.—(AP)—West Wicklow, ridden by C. Richards, and an outsider, today won the historic Cesarewitch, England's great autumn handicap.

Friendship, ridden by Dues, was second, and Brown Jack, ridden by Steve Donaghy, was third.

Mike Hall, rated as America's greatest hunter, and carrying the colors of Robert M. Eastman, of Chicago, was unplaced.

West Wicklow, which is by Tangiers from Bachelor's Dream, is owned by D. O'M. Leahy, Friendship, owned by J. B. Joel and Brown Jack by Colonel H. A. Werber.

West Wicklow won by a length while the same distance was between second and third.

The odds against the winner were 25 to 1 while those against Friendship were 100 to 8 and against Brown Jack 15 to 2.

Glenwood Defeats Winona Park 13-7

Glenwood school's sixth grade football team, on Tuesday afternoon defeated Winona Park school's sixth grade, 13 to 7, in one of the most interesting juvenile games played in Decatur this season. The game was played on the Winona Park field.

Handy Is Winner Of Gaillard Shoot

Natchez, Miss., October 16.—(AP)—Dr. G. S. Handy today won the club cup at the fifty-second annual shoot of the Gaillard Sporting Club, oldest gun club in Mississippi. Dr. Handy's score was 94 out of 100. M. R. Reithover won the club medal with a score of 24 out of 25.

Fishing around in the section of town that is dimly illuminated with amber caution lights in honor of the inventor of the phonograph, one lands several nice ones that indicate the trend of popular opinion on the outcome of the three headline football games this week.

Alabama will beat Tennessee, Georgia will beat North Carolina and Tech will beat Florida, they say.

I would hate to invest the family savings on those selections—or on any other selections as for that, but that is the general idea.

THEIR ARGUMENTS.
The man in the second chair thinks Alabama's line will pulverize Tennessee's and split the Hackman-McEver plays before they get started. They laugh loudly at stories of injuries.

He insists that Georgia's victory over Yale gave the Athens boys just enough confidence to make them click at North Carolina and he adds that North Carolina left too much football on Grant field last week to be at its best.

And finally he selects the Yellow Jackets to beat Florida for no reason at all. Evidently the old superstition that the Engineers are unbeatable on Grant field has not been wiped out. I talked with any number and all think Tech will take the big end and can find no explanation for their stand.

SPEED IS VOLS' HOPE.
Take the Alabama-Tennessee case: it is not yet established that Alabama's rush line is greatly superior to Tennessee's. Speed in a rush line is as important as weight. Alabama has the weight but probably lacks speed.

Tennessee has a robust chance to beat Alabama by sweeping the ends and throwing passes.

Tennessee is playing at home and that helps. One needs a well developed hunch to guess that battle right; it is an even game, no less.

ANOTHER EVEN DUEL.

Another even battle is the North Carolina-Georgia contest. The Tarheels have Branch, Magner, Nash, Slusser, Maus, House and Spaulding in the backfield brigade, while Georgia has Downs, Vaughn, Davidson, Chandler, Dickens, Rothstein and Roberts.

All these boys have proven their individual brilliance in early games, but the sum total of experience rests in the Tarheel attacking crew.

Off hand I'd guess the Georgia rush line had an edge on the Tarheel forwards, basing that opinion on the Tech and the Yale games.

The weakness of Tech's ends on offense did much to make the Carolina tackles look good; Adkins ("Big Ninety") as the colored visitors called him; and Koenig will not come charging into Georgia's backfield after they are socked by Vernon Smith and Kid Kelley.

The Georgia-Tarheel battle no doubt will be decided on a basis of physical and mental fitness; the team that falls away farther from its last big game will lose. But such intangible factors cannot be estimated in advance.

FOR HUNCH PLAYERS ONLY.

Georgia Tech is no cinch to beat Florida—not by a mile and a furlong. The Yellow Jackets have not hit a winning stride yet and it should occasion no surprise if one week proved too short a time to recover from the shock of losing the first game in a season and a half.

The big historical factor in favor of Tech beating Florida is that a Tech football team has not been defeated in the third game of any season in over ten years.

Prominent third-game victims have been Alabama (three times), Penn State, Tulane and Notre Dame. That is for the hunch players.

CONCERNING THE IRISH.

Homer George writes from New York: "Dear Ed—Grant Rice, Dick Hyland, and I ducked away from the world's series Saturday and went over to Baltimore to see Notre Dame play. We were glad despite what we missed, for we saw a really great Notre Dame team win handily.

"Rockne's boys have everything, including the finest line I have seen in two years this early in the season. Everyone agrees that the backfield will make a record as great as that of The Four Horsemen. Carideo may not be another Stuhldreher but he is pretty close to it. Brill is a superlative back and so are Elder and Mullins. Savoldi is a great plunging fullback, too, a weapon they lacked last year. They have the speed of a gale and all are exceptionally quick starters.

"Tom Lieb says he fears the Pittsburgh crowd most. Of course all this forecasting depends upon Rockne's rapid recovery as the team still needs polishing.

"Georgia's victory over Yale must have been an inspiring sight.

"Throw out the Princeton score and figure them to win all the rest of the games with the hardest test coming from Navy."

THE OLD COMEBACK.

Marty Semon, manager of Keith's Georgia, had a wire from Claude Lee, Gainesville exhibitor, asking for courtesies to be extended at the door to the Florida football team next Friday and Saturday and added, "We will beat you two touchdowns."

Manager Semon wired back: "Will be glad to extend courtesies of theater to Florida squad as that will be the one bright spot in the 'Gators visit to Atlanta. Regards."

They just can't get ahead of old Marty.

Little Expects Dope From Saturday's Tilt

Washington, October 16.—(United News.)—Coach Lou Little, of Georgetown, hopes to get a line on what to expect in the forthcoming game with New York university, arch enemy of the Blue and Gray, when his charges tackle West Virginia Wesleyan here Saturday. The Wesleyan eleven was defeated October 5 by N. Y. U. by a margin of four touchdowns.

New York, October 16.—(United News.)—Columbia's varsity was driven through the most intensive scrimmage of the season by Coach Charley Crowley in preparation for Saturday's battle with the unbeaten Dartmouth team. Joyce, sophomore quarterback, replaced Liflander for the greater part of the workout and Van Voorhees saw action at left end.

GEORGIA DULY WARNED YALE BEFORE GAME

Governor Promised Eli Everything But Victory on Gridiron.

By George Trevor, New York Sun.

New York, October 16.—When Abraham Baldwin, Yale, 1768, fared forth with his blue-ribboned degree from New Haven to found a college in the red clay hills of northern Georgia he little dreamed that he was rearing a Frankenstein of the gridiron which should some day tear his alma mater's team to shreds and send it home to the Elm City thoroughly beaten and disorganized.

Saturday, October 12, was that day. Georgia university was the football eleven which laughed at the jinx that supposedly dogs the team dedicating a stadium. Sanford arena was baptized in a manner eminently satisfying to the sons of Dixie. Mother Yale, the honored invited guest, was treated as securely as the mothers that once featured the old sob ballads.

Well, Yale had due warning. In his welcoming address to the visitors from New Haven, Governor Hardman of Georgia said: "My friends, yours are the keys to Georgia's house—we will give you everything we've got except one thing—the football game."

One wonders what thoughts would have surged through Abraham Baldwin's mind had he walked down Georgia's quaint little campus in the dusk of last Saturday evening and heard the chapel chiming tolling Yale's requiem.

MOURNFUL TRIP.

Dang-dong-dang-dong—that metallic throb could be heard clear down to the railroad yards where the Yale special puffed on a siding, steamed up for the mournful trip home.

We first heard the brazen clangor as we climbed up the steep hill that leads from the sunken stadium—a concrete gem in a sylvan setting—to the knoll top campus. A misty half light, that grayish-yellow tone so characteristic of a southern evening, softened the contours of weather-beaten college buildings redolent of age.

Dang-dong-dang-dong—the metronomic beat of the bell came from the old chapel, a brown brick structure design on the square lines of a New England meeting house. Doric columns, their masses bulking large in the twilight, supported the facade.

FRESH AT WORK.

The bell itself tapped a wooden scaffolding of time-worn timbers. Below it clustered a vivid knot of Georgia freshmen—a gay dab of color in their scarlet jerseys and skull caps. Each one advanced in turn and took his trick at yanking the lanyard which rang the bell. Having finished his new minutes of duty he gave way to a mate, after signing his name on the time card tacked to a nearby door.

Seniors, swagger in bowler hats and heavy jackets, strolled by, looking no fresher than shirked his spell at the rope, but there was no need for this surveillance. Each freshman esteemed it a privilege to help toll old Eli's knell.

GEORGIA COURAGE.

Since that afternoon in 1897 when Venable Gammon was led to the Yale field by a "big" man, the Georgia team has been known for their courage and fire. Captain Boldt's eleven showed the traditional Georgia fight in beating down a game, but hesitant, Yale team last Saturday.

Those who had expected Georgia to wilt when Yale's blue-jeaned, white-helmeted giants deployed on the field, got a stunning surprise. The Georgians rose to the occasion and gave the nation the realization that all Dixie was looking to them to uphold the prestige of southern football. Well, they upheld it. Even the boys themselves didn't know they could play such football.

Line pressure won this game, as it has in many before. The Georgia line, weighed six or seven pounds more than the blocky, stock southerners—real bulldog types—swarmed all over the taller, bigger adversaries. The Georgia center trio—Captain Boland, flanked by two redheads, Leathers and Maddox—chewed huge holes in Yale's midriff.

WEAK SPOTS.

Employing Rockne's tricky hop shift, Georgia packed her plays inside tackle. A superficial critic might have thought that the middle of the Blue line was the last place to strike, but Georgia scouts had spotted softness there and superbly did such savage running backs as Rothstein, Roberts, Davidson and Dickens exploit that weak spot.

Rothstein is a worthy successor to Bull McCarry. He ran low to the turf, his nose scraping the sod. Yale's middle was split as though by a razor-edged knife. Rothstein wriggled like a snake threading a cornfield as he singled Yale seconds.

Three out of every four Georgia plays were directed over the Yale guards. They sprang out of Rockne's "lively" mauling cut-in unanswerable and caught Yale shifting the wrong way. Once in a while Georgia varied this close order line assault with a wide sweep that took Yale by surprise. On such a flanking run Dickens almost got free for a touchdown.

He would have crossed the goal untouched if his interferences had mopped up properly.

CATFISH SMITH.

Line pressure forced the breaks, but was Vernon Smith, Georgia's rugged, sophomore end, who exploited them. Every football game must have its hero and Smith, dubbed Catfish by his classmates, surely stole Dixie's intersectional show.

Smith scored both Georgia touchdowns.

Florida's Best Lineman

Jimmy Steele, Florida guard, is rated as one of the best linemen in the Conference. He will be seen in action at the Flats on Saturday when Tech and Florida meet in their annual game. The 'Gators will be favorites to win after Tech's defeat by N. C. U.

Max Schmeling Signs For Fight in Miami

Stribling May Meet German in 15-Round Bout. Carter Has Papers

New York, October 16.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, signed articles here tonight with G. R. K. Carter, of Miami Beach, Fla., for a 15-round bout involving the German heavyweight against Young Stribling, Tuffy Griffiths, Victorio Campolo or Otto Von Porat at the Miami Beach Kennel Club next February or March. Schmeling's opponent will be named later, possibly after an elimination series.

Varsity Substitutes Star in Scrimmage

Princeton, N. J., October 16.—(United News.)—Dick Vogt, a junior, today starred in a scrimmage with the second team. Vogt, replacing Ed Witmer at halfback, made several long runs, while Eyles, promoted to varsity right end, played a powerful defense game. Coach Roper continued to stress forward pass defense for the Cornell game Saturday.

Evans, Longest Kicker May Go Against N.Y.

State College, Pa., October 16.—(United News.)—Tommy Evans, the longest kicker of the Penn State squad, was used in practice today in place of Captain Jack Martin. Coach Bosdek indicated that Martin might be shifted to his old position at tackle for Saturday's game with New York university.

Dixie Team Sought For Charity Game

Boston, Mass., October 16.—James F. Fay and John U. Riley, athletic officer and commander, respectively, of the Crosscup Fishing Post, American Legion, left the East Boston airport this morning in a privately-owned plane for Athens, Ga., where they will confer with Dr. S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, chief executive of the Southern Conference, in regard to selecting the southern football players who will line up against an All-New England college team in December at Braves field in the charity football game which will be staged for the benefit of the Post's charitable relief fund.

It is Athletic Officer Fay's intention to obtain the services only of college players who are seniors. He also will pay a brief visit to Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, who has agreed to coach the southern team. The fortunes of the New England team will be handled under the direction of a group of prominent Boston coaches, who have not as yet been selected.

30,000 PEOPLE ARE EXPECTED TO SEE BATTLE

Tech Athletic Office Announces Less Than 2,000 Tickets Left.

By Ed Danforth.

Thirty thousand people will jam Grant field for the Georgia Tech-Florida football game Saturday. That was the bulletin from the Tech athletic office last night at the close of business.

Less than 2,000 seats remain unsold anywhere in the stadium. A record throng for the third game seems certain. In addition to the tremendous, enthusiastic crowd of Florida supporters and undergraduates, casual single game buyers have drained the ticket racks. The Florida team was more or less of a mystery here last year; and the prospect of a "new act" on the bill has stimulated attendance to unprecedented bounds.

And the game itself? Probably more potent in attracting fans than any other factor, the prospect of the Yellow Jackets backed up to the wall with the firing squad in line, muskets at shoulder, is melodrama enough to arouse the most indifferent football bug.

FRIDAY FADES.

The events of last Friday, when North Carolina halted the long triumphant parade of the Engineers, have been all but dismissed. The Yellow Jackets have their gleaming opportunity to get back in the conference race and vindicate the pre-season estimate of their strength.

An emergency at the Flats. It is a novel situation. It is reminiscent of the days when the 1926 eleven had to rise to heights of inspiration to win four games out of five, when the gold team had to come through on sheer will to win.

Hundreds of Tech graduates gathering for Home Coming Day will confidently expect the remnants of the Old Guard of 1927 and 1928 to show them plenty of old-fashioned heroics.

More than likely they will not be disappointed. The spirit shown in practice this week has indicated the morale will be fine. But it will take more than morale to beat Florida.

FLORIDA STARS.

Crabtree, the boy who kicks with either foot, and Goodbread, who weighs 190 pounds and runs like a gazelle, and Dale Van Sickle, the All-American end, are not merely boys with a good press agent. They can play football. And they have been pointed for this game ever since last spring. It is the big shot. Florida will stake everything, on one roll of the gridiron dice and let the future go.

The Yellow Jackets took another scrimmage yesterday afternoon against the Grey Devils who were using Florida players. The Varsity had harsh contact with the Devils Tuesday; it was the second string Wednesday. Injuries to second stringers and consequent scarcity of good substitutes have forced Coach Alexander to cut his scrimmage team.

Doug Graydon will not be able to replace Mizell at halfback. Shag Williams, substitute for Tom Jones, is out for the season. Fred Holt, first reserve tackle, may not be in condition to play. Otherwise there are no serious injuries. The Tech Varsity game is healthy.

Jackets Hold Signal Drill.

By Herb Clark.

By ditch men pulling and struggling, Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets climbed well out of whatever sloughs they may have previously been laboring in. They took a good workout on the Rose Bowl field Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Bill Alexander, striving to get his charges ready for the concerted assault which the Engineers will launch Saturday, sent the first string squad through a long signal drill which had the boys plunging. But on the other side of the line-up of the squad, as Alex sent the Milligan twins, Fincher and Mullins, in at the tackle posts.

On the other side of the fence the "B" squad took on the Grey Devils when their Florida backs and places in a scrimmage. They showed better.

Andy Cohen Sold by Giants

New York, October 16.—(AP)—The outright sale of Andy Cohen, second baseman, to the Newark International league club was announced today by the New York Giants.

Cohen was purchased by the Giants for a reported price of $25,000 from the Waco club of the Texas league in 1928. After a brief trial he was sent to the Buffalo International in 1927, performing so well that he was recalled and played virtually a full season at second base for the Giants in 1928, batting .274. This year he played in 98 games and batted .294, alternating with several others.

Hailed as the Jewish star that Manager John McGraw had been seeking for a long time, Cohen flourished a sensational debut in the opening game of the season in 1928 at the polo grounds.

Tarheels Work on Aerial Attack for Use Against Bulldogs

COLLINS DRILLS ELEVEN HARD FOR GEORGIANS

Two Teams With Extra Backs See Action—Air Game Okay.

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 16.—The Tarheels worked on their passing attack today.

From the results it looks as if Georgia may expect a full measure of the Tarheel offensive on Saturday to be in the air.

Chuck Collins and his coaching partners worked two full eleven, with an extra pair of halves and an extra quarter thrown in for good measure, against a hefty freshman outfit. The boys were completing passes from all angles and for all distances, the best backs interspersing a run every now and then when a run was needed.

The starting backfield of Jackson, Slusser and Nelson, end, all took more, and this same backfield scored another with the incoming of Maus and Erickson at the halves. Slusser, Branch and Maus pulled nice runs, each to vary the monotony of the attack.

Strud Nash, halfback; Bill Koenig, tackle; and Nelson, end, all took workouts and looked improved from injuries sustained in the Georgia Tech battle. Koenig may not be in shape Saturday, but Nash and Nelson were looking as if they will be ready.

Pete Wyrick, veteran quarterback, out for a week with a back injury, called signals for a period, but limited his workout to that. Coach Collins would not let him block or run interference.

Friends Offer Aid To Knote Rockne

South Bend, Ind., October 16. (United Press.)—Worried by the ailment of Knote Rockne, their dynamic football coach, several prominent alumni of Notre Dame have returned here to offer aid. Rockne is suffering with a blood congestion in his right leg.

Dr. John Carroll, New York diagnostician; Dr. Maurice Keady and Maurice Byrne came from New York and visited the noted coach.

Time the physicians agreed, should heal the congestion, which they described as a toxic condition.

Rockne was unable to go to Baltimore last week with his team, but said today he hoped to make the trip Saturday to Chicago, where Notre Dame plays Wisconsin.

Emory Seniors Beat Rats, 25-0

Withing under the attack of a more experienced and far heavier team, the Emory interclass schedule to the Senior-Graduate team, 25-0, at the Emory athletic field yesterday afternoon.

Coach Lester, of the Rat squad, used nearly every substitute on his list in an effort to stop the winners. Mims was the best ground gainer and pass receiver for the Frosh, although Law did his share in helping the Rats make six first downs.

Logan was the star of the game, scoring the first touchdown for the Seniors on the first play of the game, after McGeechey had run back the kickoff 20 yards, he galloped more than 60 yards for the score. Logan also led the drive that resulted in the last score of the game. Stockman and Lee worked well as the passing combination of the winners.

The next game in the series will be played at the field Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, when the Juniors and the Sophomores meet for their first battle of the year.

Morris Brown Plays Florida

Morris Brown will meet its second conference rival Friday afternoon in Florida A. M. college, on the Morris Brown athletic field at 2:30 o'clock.

Morris Brown university issued invitations to the Florida and Tech teams to be guests of honor at the game, and two notable eleven will attend in a body.

A special section of the grandstand will be set aside to accommodate the white fans. The colored school is located on the corner of Boulevard and Houston.

Morris Brown got off to a poor start by losing its first two games, but by close scores. Fort Benning defeated the Morris Brown outfit by one touchdown, and Alabama State last Friday afternoon gave the team its only conference defeat by a safety, 2-0.

Doughty, triple-threat halfback, and Credell are expected to lead the Morris Brown attack. Jones, another halfback, is expected to figure prominently in Friday's fracas. Credell, who, in his last game showed excellent judgment at quarterback.

A hard dummy practice is slated for today. Tackling will be one of the important factors of the drill. Weak tackling is said to have been the cause of the defeat by the 24th Infantry. This department, Coach Lockhart said, would get a lot of attention and he would have the forward wall in excellent shape by game-time Friday. This game was moved up from Saturday to make way for the Howard and Morehouse game on the Morehouse field.

RED AND BLACK VARSITY BEATS RAT TEAM, 26-0

Forward Wall Works Better; Team Leaves for Tarheelville Tonight.

Athens, Ga., October 16.—Coach Harry Mehre sent his first string varsity team into a scrimmage this afternoon against the best freshman team which Gene Smith could place on the field and the Bulldogs came out on the big end of a 26-0 score.

In a scrimmage which lasted only about 45 minutes the varsity scored three touchdowns with ease and then had to battle a large Bulldog eleven for about 20 minutes before they could score the fourth. The Bulldog eleven which took the freshmen to ride this afternoon was composed of Tassapoulas, center; Bennett and Jim Patterson, guards; Frisbie and Pat Bryant, tackles; Maffett and Vernon Smith, ends; Tommy Moran, quarterback; Dickens and Chandler, halfbacks; and Roberts, fullback.

SMITH TAKEN OUT.—After doing his stuff for about 20 minutes, Vernon Smith was replaced by Kelly. Waugh came in for Dickens, Stelling for Bennett, and Lutz for Frisbie after the second touchdown.

Jack Roberts, sophomore fullback, gained all the ground which the varsity earned through the first year men's line. Very little yardage was gained through the line. As often as the varsity forwards would open up a hole the freshmen backs would charge forward to meet the varsity ball-carriers. The rat line is very heavy, and for that reason the Bulldogs had to depend on end runs and forward passes for their gains. Time after time Georgia's two sharpshooters, Moran and Chandler, threw passes for long gains. Dickens, who played his first varsity game last Saturday against Yale, made nice long runs this afternoon, as did Chandler.

LINE LOOKS BETTER.—From end to end the Georgia line was working with a fair amount of co-ordination. Captain Joe Boland did not get in the scrimmage, but Tassapoulas showed up well in the pivot position. Tassapoulas, who has been doubled for the sake of brevity, is not a spectacular player, but his work as a center for the Georgia captain is a great asset to the Bulldog eleven. The improvement of the Georgia guards has probably been most noticeable. After the Oglethorpe game every one was waiting about the way they would around the Georgia center, but in the last two games it has been well nigh impossible to gain through the center of the Bulldog line.

For the freshmen, who were able to make only three first downs during the scrimmage, Leroy Young, Macon, and brother to Robert Young, Georgia's track captain, was the outstanding player. Young's punting was brilliant this afternoon. He averaged over 45 yards to the punting line and one for over 65 yards. The big freshman line was also doing fine work.

Coch Thomas sent his men through a short practice in breaking up passes and tackling. It was in these two departments in which Georgia showed-up so well against Yale. In last Saturday's game the Bulldogs tackled fiercely and displayed a well-trained aerial defense.

EXPECT BATTLE.—The Georgia coaches are not any too optimistic over the prospects for beating North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Commenting on the coming game with the Tarheels, Coach Mehre said today, "The boys will have to play the same kind of ball against North Carolina as they did against Yale. If we are to win, the North Carolina players are not as large and rugged as those of Yale, but they know their plays better, and if we let down the least bit we are in for a licking."

The Georgia coaches, players and managers will leave Athens at 10:15 o'clock tomorrow night for Chapel Hill. The boys will work out in the Tarheel stadium Friday and return to Durham, where they will spend Friday night and Saturday morning.

GEORGIA OFF TO N. C. GAME

more great. Youth is resilient, but the Georgia players took until yesterday to bounce back. Today probably will be the first day they feel the elasticity of muscle and mind that was theirs before the Yale game.

All of which is but a phase of the game that is looming up as one of the big chinders in the national football eye this week-end.

Georgia, a prominent national figure since the defeat of Yale, will be watched with more than ordinary interest in its first conference game.

TARHEEL ADVANTAGE.—Harry Mehre and Frank Thomas are attempting this week to offset what appears to be a North Carolina advantage. They are shifting players in an effort to discover more substitutes. Pat Patterson is being used at guard. He was formerly a fullback. Ed Hamilton, a quarterback, is being trained at the halfback job.

Thomas has trained two quarterbacks in Downs and Moran. He can use another halfback. The line played a marvelous game against Yale but needs reserves.

The Tarheels have more reserve backs. They will be in even better condition for Georgia than they were for Tech; House, the regular fullback is ready for action against Georgia.

Mehre and Thomas hope to have the team at the peak of its performance at the time they play North Carolina. If they are able to make the long pull back they should win. Georgia, in shape, will get the jump on most any opponent. If they leave part of themselves on Sanford field when they go to the Old North State the Tarheels will have a decided edge.

Leo Diegel, favorites to win the title from Willie Hunter, finished in a tie with Harry Pressler, of San Gabriel, with 72.

Confident Cubs Are Best, Wrigley Lays His Plans

By Marben Graham.

Chicago, October 16.—(United Press.)—William Wrigley, Jr., genial boss of the recently vanquished Chicago Cubs, believes his team still is the pick of the National league and expects to make it the best in the world next year.

The chewing gum king came home today from the east in high spirits and with a somewhat mysterious smile. He made a striking contrast to the glum faces about Cub headquarters, where the serious business of returning $200,000 fans who had bought tickets for an unplayed sixth game was under way.

No one ever returned as much money to fans as Wrigley did this year. He sent back $1,000,000 before the series started because he didn't have enough seats to sell, and this $200,000 is in addition.

The Cubs' owner let it be known that he hoped to be able to give out some interesting news before the winter is over.

After reasserting his belief that everyone on the team did his best, Wrigley let it be known that he was not averse, nevertheless, to getting a player or so to help along.

The significant manner in which the millionaire tapped the pocket where bankrolls usually are carried gave the impression that he was willing to let the strings lie he did last winter to get Rogers Hornsby.

It is no secret that the Cubs want Dazzy Vance for their hurling corps. Likewise, they want a third-base man and rumor has it that Whitney, of the hard-hitting Philadelphia Athletics, may fill the bill. The work of Zack Taylor in the world series just about stopped a hunt for a first-rate catcher.

ter against the Gator maneuvers than the varsity did Tuesday, stopping most of the threats cold and permitting the game of the varsity to proceed. Brumby and Sloan were at the flanks on this varsity eleven, with Swartz and Watkins at tackles. Law and Edwards, end, and watching passes closely on the defense, and stepping furiously when he was called to carry a yard ball when the varsity was on the offense.

The Jackets and their coaches are fully aware of the caliber of the Florida threat and are working hard to get into top form for what they hope will be a successful repelling of that threat.

A snappy exhibition by the secondary defense featured the scrimmage Wednesday. All the members of the backfield, with the co-operation of the Florida sophomores, were snapped into their tackles with plenty of vigor, diagnosing the plays well and getting their men for gains which were infrequent and small.

Yearlings Work For Aggie Clash.

A short scrimmage and a long signal drill was the dose prescribed for his yearling gridirers by Coach Kid Clay Wednesday afternoon as the season's opener, scheduled with Monroe Aggies Friday afternoon, approaches.

Athletic Club Increases Dues

Abolishing the special golf memberships, members of the Atlanta Athletic Club voted to raise the annual dues at their last meeting.

Under the new plan all members will have the same privileges both at the country club and the town lodge.

The constitution was also amended to allow the same adjustments with regard to army and non-resident members.

These changes will go into effect on November 1, and were unanimously approved by the members.

It was also decided to hold dances on scheduled holidays during the coming season, and not on the weekly basis used last year.

GOLF CUSTOMS DIFFER OVER UNITED STATES

Hagen Finds Negro Caddies in South Most Amusing.

By Walter Hagen.

British Open Golf Champion.

Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Chicago, October 16.—As I travel around the country I meet many interesting and unusual golfers, and hear strange golf tales. All the United States and Canada are intensely interested in the game, and each section has its vernacular.

I hear quite golf language in the far west that brings a smile from the easterner, and quaint talk "down east" that amuses the westerner. The south has its line of golf talk and customs.

In the south the negro caddy element enters, and this is always a source of amusement. One can never really become serious, too serious, I mean, on a southern links, as long as these brown and ebony lads are around.

KNOW GOLF.

If one gets the idea the colored caddy doesn't know the game he is soon disabused. These boys know golf from A to Z, and they quickly learn all there is to learn about each player's game. They usually hand out the right clubs, and their judgment is just as good, if not better, than that of the average boy in the north.

In England and Scotland the colored caddy is unknown, and this is one of the reasons the foreign players are so much interested in playing golf in the south.

My first impression of the colored caddy was formed at Pinehurst. These boys are experienced bag-toters, and can initiate them, too, giving advice, and at times their humor is refreshing. They practice golf in their spare time. They know the stars of the game and can initiate them, too, bringing out the main feature of each player they have caddied for or watched.

COWBOYS PLAY.

In New Mexico, close to the border, cowboys are taking up the game. The Texas cowboys, too, are learning golf fast, and they have brought many new experiences into the game.

California has a great many eastern golfers. I believe there is more in common between the golfers of Los Angeles and its vicinity and the eastern players than between the two groups in the United States.

Fads in some sections are entertaining. We find a run on a certain golf ball in one section, and wonder why. Maybe in another city a few hundred miles away that ball is never used.

Golfers through the middle west are independent, and have set themselves up as leaders in the game rather than followers. They stick by their guns at all times. When they believed the stylin' was an unfair part of the game they eliminated it. When they discovered that mud adhering to the ball was a nuisance and a detriment to putting, they decided it would be best to let the player clean the ball.

GOLF SLANG.

The middle west has brought golf terms and slang into the game that are being used in the east and other parts of the country. Middle westerners used to talk about shooting around the links, and this has become a popular term, although the effete east was slow to take it up.

The Atlantic seaboard originated a lot of ideas on golf, and many of them have become a popular part of the game. We would hardly think of discarding the four-ball matches which have become the feature of week-end golf.

We would not think of giving up the Nassau system of scoring, either, another important development of the game that originated in this country. The game as it stands is about as near perfect as possible, yet we will find new ideas coming along from time to time and we will wonder why they have not been thought of before. The invention of the little wooden tee was a novelty not thought much of at first, but finally it has caught on like wild fire, and one wonders why so simple an invention was so long coming.

One is getting "golf-stale," my tip is to change the scenery. A trip to some part of the country will give new ideas and renew the old golf spirit.

Tennis Tournery At Emory Opens

Play in the Emory University championship tennis tournament will begin today at the university courts by 46 entrants for a place on the varsity team, and for the silver trophy that is to be presented to the winner of the tourney. This tournament is open only to upper classmen, as a separate tournament is being held for freshmen.

All first-round matches must be played by Saturday, October 26, and play in the second and third rounds will begin then, which are to be finished within a week after that.

The pairings are as follows: Ad Smith vs. J. Mullins; G. Hogg vs. H. Sherman; E. Griffin vs. C. Paine; L. Ray vs. Bill Rivers; E. Isaacs vs. F. Wilder; Cowart vs. H. L. Smith; Bob Martin vs. Lloyd Kingsberry; L. Greenburg vs. J. L. Harris; Bill Bailey vs. W. Spann; B. Gannaway vs. W. Winn; R. Squires vs. M. Augustine; A. Kasey vs. J. Gordon; P. Probst vs. Doug Rumble; J. Bledsoe vs. J. Seale; Ed Mims vs. Ed Vinson; and B. Warren vs. R. Miller.

Those drawing byes in the first round are as follows: F. McDaniel; J. E. Warren; J. C. Howard; H. C. McKim; M. Moseley; Fowler; G. Reynolds; A. Ford; G. Smith; B. G. Jones; Sam Zion; W. Cox; A. Winn; J. Cunningham; J. R. Carson; and C. Hainey.

Robin Formations Worry Oglethorpe

Rats Demonstrate St. Louis System in Scrimmage—Woodward Out With Broken Ankle.

St. Louis plays, used by Coach Homer Chesnut's freshmen eleven Wednesday afternoon, clicked against the Oglethorpe varsity. The Frosh, led by Sam Baker, slid off tackle and completed passes for several neat gains.

Saturday's game, with the St. Louis University Robins, promises to be one of the hardest battles on the Oglethorpe schedule. Playing the strong Georgetown University team in Washington last Saturday the Robins were beaten 13 to 0, both touchdowns resulting from forward passes. Statistics of the game show that St. Louis made eight first downs while the Oglethorpe team was only successful in making four. This all goes to show what the Robins will be up against Saturday.

The Birds will most certainly have to be at their best to emerge victorious from this fracas. And this afternoon's scrimmage with the freshmen was no indication that they would be.

Using the St. Louis formations and emulating the St. Louis club, the rats ripped through the varsity to give ample warning of what may happen Saturday.

The Robins are going into the Windy City to settle an old score. In by-gone days, on the occasion of their last meeting, the Robins handled the Birds a 9 to 7 trouncing.

Coach Robertson suffered today the most severe blow that has been his lot this season, when it was learned that Jenny Woodward, 105-pound dynamo, had a broken ankle. It was at first thought that Woodward's foot was only sprained but the X-ray picture revealed that his ankle was broken in two places. Woodward's inability to play will be sorely felt by the Oglethorpe team, as Jenny has always been a mainstay in the backfield, both on offense and defense. He is one of the best blockers on the squad. Dapper Meyer will in all probability take Woodward's place. Meyer will be remembered as the boy who was blocking down the field when Cy Bell made his memorable run against the Bulldogs.

Anne Martin, a triple-threat back, is suffering with a severe charley-horse, though it is hoped that his leg will be sufficiently healed by Saturday to allow him to play.

With only one more working day left, the Robins will polish up in all departments.

Tickets Ready

The Clark athletic department announced Wednesday that ducaus and railroad tickets for the game on Legion field in Birmingham Friday, October 18, could be secured at the business office of Clark university. Tickets will be good beginning today up to midnight Monday, October 21.

'Gators Leave Today for Game With Jackets Here Saturday

LIGHT SESSION ENDS PRACTICE ON HOME FIELD

Students Cheer as Players Work Out on Eve of Departure for Flats.

Gainesville, Fla., October 16.—A light scrimmage to-night brought to a conclusion Florida's mighty preparations for the Jacket-Gator battle on Grant field Saturday. There will be a light workout on Fleming field here tomorrow, but the 'Gators are to leave by bus for Jacksonville at 5 o'clock to board a night rattler for Georgia's capital city.

The team and coaches are to get a big send-off at Jacksonville before their train departs at 9:45 o'clock for Tech's stronghold. The 'Gators will arrive Friday morning at the Flats and work out on Grant field, the scene of Saturday's conflict.

TOWN "HET UP."
This town is considerably "het up" over the Tech affair. Some 1,200 student tickets have been sold by the athletic department, and the general sale has been heavy all week. Tonight some 1,500 students massed on Fleming field at the practice session and went through cheering exercises. The famous 60-piece Gator band also was on hand and added to the general din. The Florida band is making the trip to Atlanta Friday. Director Bachman was not interested in the student performance. He failed to make a curtain speech and drove his squad through signal practice. The varsity scrimmage for only a few minutes. The coaches saw to it that none of the players was injured.

MASS MEETING.
A monster mass meeting at chapel tomorrow will be the climax of a week's preparation for the Atlanta invasion. Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the university, and Head Coach Bachman are scheduled to speak.

Coincidentally with the departure of the team for the Tech affair, will be the announcement at chapel exercises tomorrow of plans for construction of a new stadium on the Florida campus. The structure is to be built on the site of the old stadium and will be completed by next September. Funds for the erection of the structure will be obtained by popular subscription and from athletic department earnings. The new stands will be the first unit of what will eventually be a stadium and plant capable of seating for 75,000 spectators.

Wrigley After Dizzy Vance

Chicago, October 16.—(AP)—Back home from Philadelphia where his Bruins absorbed their final world series knockout punches, William Wrigley, Jr., already is planning and looking forward to 1930. His big bank roll is out again and he is after one or two established pitching stars and a third baseman who can hit as well as field.

Dizzy Vance, speedball king from Brooklyn, is reported to be one hurler Wrigley is desirous of buying. The Third Baseman Whitney of the Philadelphia Nationals also is in the rumors flying around Cub circles.

Wrigley, who refused to discuss the Rogers Hornsby deal last winter until it was sealed, admitted a move is on to strengthen the Cubs for another National League pennant dash in 1930 and another try for a world's title.

"We'll be back next year stronger than ever and maybe we'll have some breaks, too," he said.

Virginia Seeks V.M.I. Victory

University, Va., October 16.—Virginia is again on a tip toe of defeat, fighting Virginia Military Institute when Cadets and Cavaliers do battle Saturday afternoon on Lambeth field, in spite of the loss of Captain John Sloan, quarterback, and Hunter Motley, veteran tackle.

Instead of disheartening the Virginia squad there has been a spurting of them. They know now that their best chance of playing better than their best can be to overcome the powerful Cavalier eleven.

Captain Sloan, with a broken foot, and Motley, with a badly-wrenched knee, have joined Bill Byrd to make three lettermen who watch workouts from the sidelines. Byrd dislocated his shoulder in the South Carolina game.

If Sloan's fracture knits properly, he should be back in uniform in time for the contest with Virginia Polytechnic Institute here on November 9. Byrd may be in shape for the Maryland game a week earlier. But there is still doubt as to whether Motley will be able to play again this season.

BEAR STORIES CROPPING OUT

Eastern Elevens Be moan Injuries as Big Games Loom.

By L. S. Cameron.
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, October 16.—(United News)—The first big crop of Bear stories from football camps have reached New York as eastern elevens made ready for another week of really important games.

Pennsylvania and Harvard led the list of teams mentioning casualties. The Quakers will face California's mighty Golden Bears at Philadelphia on Saturday without the services of Gene Kuen, veteran tackle. He has an injured knee. Dick Gentile, fleet halfback, who was out of the game most of last season because of injuries, has complained of illness and has been ordered to rest. He may not be available Saturday.

Wallace Harper, fullback, and Jim Douglas, end, two Harvard regulars have been counted out of the big game with Army at Cambridge on Saturday. Harold Levin, substitute tackle, is a third Cambridge casualty.

CORNELL CRIPPLES.

Cornell has four "cripples," but they may be in shape for the important game with Princeton on Saturday. The Cornell team has a doubtful list: Alexander, end; Heckstaff and Hunt, guards, and Wickham, tackle.

Lehigh's squad contains two injured players. They are Gadd, a guard, and Motion, a tackle.

Cornell's hopes for victory over Princeton Saturday will be based on a passing game, according to present indications. Howard Johnson, Charleston (W. Va.) boy, is one of the best passers on the squad.

That good old football word, "overconfidence," is being brought out again this week for the benefit of teams which have made fine achievements.

Major Frank Cavanaugh, Fordham's mentor, had occasion to warn his players against the bug-a-boo, having watched N. Y. U. and facing Holy Cross.

HEALTHY RESPECT.
Robert Zupke, Illinois coach, has seen the need of some healthy respect from Iowa, next Saturday's opponent.

No game to be played Saturday will contain more of the unknown element than the meeting here between Columbia and Dartmouth. Dartmouth has her Al Marsters. Ralph Hewitt is Columbia's ace ball-toter. Each team has played three games against light teams, winning all by handsome margins.

Open Tournney.
R. Norris Williams, former captain of the United States Davis Cup team, is in favor of the United States Tennis Association staging a national open tennis championship.

Coach Wade's 'Cripples' Expected to Face Vols

"Monk" Campbell Only Tideman Who May Not See Action at Knoxville Saturday.

University, Ala., October 16.—All of the Crimson Tide casualties, with the one exception of "Monk" Campbell, will be intact and ready for service in the Knoxville battle next Saturday, it appeared certain Wednesday night.

Coach Wallace Wade had not decided Wednesday evening who he would take to Knoxville for the Tennessee battle. The Tidemen will entrain at 4:20 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The recent injuries and illnesses have involved the entire first-string backfield, with the exception of Long and two stellar lineemen, John Miller, guard, and Motton Smith, tackle. McKnight had a recurrent attack of appendicitis. Holm was laid up with a strained leg tendon, and Boykin was crippled with bad knees. Motton Smith was still in Druid City hospital Wednesday, where he was taken following an attack of malaria accompanied by a high fever. However, he is expected to make the trip. Billy Hicks, captain and quarterback, was absent from the opening lineup in last Saturday's game and has not seen a great deal of service in the early games, due partly to a slump thought to have been caused by an attack of rheumatism.

Volts Go Through Last Heavy Work.
Knoxville, Tenn., October 16.—The Tennessee Vols engaged in their last rough work this afternoon prior to the Alabama battle here Saturday. Coach Neyland sent the varsity against a determined band of frosh, who were equipped with Tide formations, and their showing was almost impressive at times.

After the Orange and White gridders showed some consistency at stopping the rat backs, Neyland turned them loose on the offensive. Bobbie Dodd, the brainy Vol quarter, out-hosed with several long passes that fell into waiting arms.

Dodd's brilliant passing and punting may play a more important part in the Alabama game than the running of his flashy teammates, Hackman and McEver.

Knoxville is almost on the verge of football hysteria over the approaching classic. It was reported today that only a limited number of seats were available. A complete sell-out is expected long before Saturday.

Local sporting circles report that all betting thus far has been about even, although some have offered odds of 6 to 5 favoring Alabama.

Georgia Stars.
Judging from the scrimmage Wednesday afternoon of the Georgia freshmen with the varsity, the tidemen will see some of the fanciest stepping they have ever seen on a gridiron.

"Buster" Mott, a former Tech High man, of Atlanta, and Ison, playing halves on the Georgia team, are reputed to be the prettiest running backs seen on Sanford field in years. The two backs will carry the brunt of the attack for the Georgia team.

Freshman Coach Gene Smith will arrive in Louisville Thursday night from Athens with at least three of his freshmen teams picked from his squad of 65.

At the same time Mercer is bragging about her freshman team, claiming to have the best in the south. Of the 22 men making up the two first string teams at Mercer, 18 are freshmen.

They are from without the state of Georgia. Mercer has a freshman from Tennessee by the name of "Pinky" Walden running at quarter who undoubtedly will rank favorably with Buster Mott or any other back in the south. And their boast of a big boy from Akron, Ohio, running at full, by the name of "Swede" Olson, who consistently shatters every line facing him.

SEEK VICTORY.
The Mercer and Georgia varsity teams do not play this year, and word comes to Louisville that the password at Mercer this fall has been for the freshmen to beat Georgia at Louisville on Friday. Every effort has been made to prime the Mercer team for this game, and no doubt it will be a great game between two of the very best teams in the state.

As a preliminary to the freshman game, Louisville academy and Wren's High school will play at 2 o'clock. This first game will be a light, as rivalry between these two teams is exceedingly keen. Both high school teams are undefeated so far, and are the best high school teams in eastern Georgia. It may be that this game will decide the championship high school team of this entire section.

Army Pass Attack Overcomes Reserves
West Point, N. Y., October 16.—(United News)—Army's varsity was victorious today as it went through the final heavy scrimmage for the Harvard game. Forward pass plays proved effective against a scrub team using Harvard defensive plays. Cagle's tosses being good for 30 and 25-yard gains. The squad will leave for Cambridge Thursday, and will hold a short signal drill before entraining.

Waycross Plans Post-Season Tilt
Waycross, Ga., October 16.—The District High School Athletic Association has laid plans for a post-season football game to decide the district high school supremacy, present plans calling for a game between the best team in the eastern section of the district and the best club in the western section. A handsome loving cup will be offered for the district champions.

S. H. Sherman, Waycross, is chairman of the executive committee of the district association.

Among the strongest contenders for the district championship are Valdosta, Ocala, Sparks-Adel, Waycross, Douglas, Jessup, Blackshear, Quitman and Glynn Academy of Brunswick.

Dick Winchell and Benton Meet Today for Golf Crown.

Dick Winchell, former newspaper golf champion, will play Mitchell Benton, West End golfer, today over the West End course for the championship of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce. Lee Fowler, former champion, is not defending his 1928 title in the present tournament.

Winchell won his way into the finals Wednesday with a 1-up victory over Forest Fowler while Benton defeated W. V. Kingdon 1 up in the lower bracket.

Only one match was played in the semi-finals of the second flight, when Garland Porter defeated E. J. Westmoreland 11 up.

E. S. Hartman and Matt Harper won their way into the finals of the third flight with victories over R. B. Catter and Jesse Webb, respectively. Hartman won, 2-1, and Harper won, 4-3.

In the fourth flight Marvin Robinson defeated Gilbert Withers, 3-2, and O. E. Pruitt defeated Shepard Egan, 4-2. Robinson and Pruitt will meet in the finals today.

Mackay Solenberger defeated Gabe Knour, 7-6, and A. O. Mitchell defeated Dr. R. W. Tharpe, 6-5, in the semi-finals of the fifth flight.

Women Golfers In Semi-Finals.
Miss Margaret Maddox, Miss Rosalie Mayer, Mrs. Helen Dargan Lowndes and Mrs. W. D. Doak went into the semi-finals of the annual women's golf championship Wednesday with victories at the Capital City Country Club. Miss Maddox, defending her 1928 title, will play Miss Mayer today in the upper bracket of the championship flight while Mrs. Lowndes will play Mrs. Doak in the lower bracket.

Miss Mayer defeated Mrs. Albert Jones, 2-1; Miss Maddox defeated Mrs. O. B. Keeler, 8-7; Mrs. Lowndes defeated Mrs. A. G. Smith, 6-5, and Mrs. Doak defeated Mrs. C. W. Beilfuss, 7-6.

In the consolation flight Mrs. L. H. Beck defeated Mrs. Forest Fowler, 4-3; Mrs. C. G. Smith defeated Mrs. Mary Warren, 2-1; Mrs. L. W. Granade defeated Mrs. Ashby Taylor, 3-2, and Mrs. C. E. Williamson defeated Mrs. Mark Larned, 4-3.

In the semi-finals of the second flight Mrs. Carlye Fraser defeated Mrs. Roy Burns, 1 up, and Mrs. Martha Bell defeated Mrs. Fred Garrett, 2-1. Mrs. Fraser will play Miss Bell in the second flight finals today.

All the matches today will be played in the morning and will be over 18 holes. The finals in the championship will be only 18 holes and will be played Friday.

Mrs. O. B. Keeler, president of the Atlanta Women's Golf Association, announced Wednesday that a one-day medal play tournament will be played Friday.

Every woman golfer in the tournament who has been defeated will be eligible to participate in the tournament, and prizes will be given to the low net and low gross scores.

Haas, of Ingleside, Sinks a "Dodo."
Edwin Haas, a popular Ingleside golfer, scored his first hole-in-one Wednesday afternoon on No. 2 at that club while playing in a threesome with Jimmy Livingston, club professional, and Monie First. Haas used a mashie on the 140-yard hole and his tee shot landed on the edge of the green and rolled into the cup. He has been playing golf for 20 years or more, but his dodo Wednesday was his first.

Former Freshman May Make Varsity
New York, October 16.—(United News)—Johnny Janis, sensation of the 1928 undefeated Fordham freshman team, was given a long workout in signal calling for the varsity in today's drill. Janis is one of the fastest backs the Rams have had and is counted upon to develop into one of the season's greatest finds. Coach Cavanaugh indicated he planned to start Janis against Holy Cross.

PREP ELEVENS FACE WEEK-END OF HARD GAMES

Tech High, in Sole Easy Spot, Meets Fulton This Afternoon.

Tech High, southern prep champions of 1928 and winner of three games this season, will meet Fulton High at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at Spiller field in the first of a series of prep games on local gridirons this weekend. Tech High had an open date on its schedule and Fulton was scheduled to play in Marietta on Friday, but switched that date for today's game.

Cochi Tolbert and his Smithy eleven returned to the city Monday from Erie, Pa., where Erie academy was defeated 33 to 0 Saturday. Monday afternoon was spent in a scrimmage with Commercial High.

Despite the few days of practice this week, Tech High appears to be in good shape for the game. None of the players received injuries in the Saturday game and after a day of light work they were eager to get into the hard work Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday was devoted to polishing up several of the rough spots in the defense and a long signal drill.

Fulton High held a long scrimmage Tuesday afternoon with Commercial High at Grant park and tapered off with a light signal drill and passing and punting Wednesday afternoon.

While Tech High and Fulton were raising off their week's work, Boys' High and G. M. A. were engaging in hard scrimmages in preparation for their game Friday at Spiller's. The Boys' High-G. M. A. game looked like one of the season's best prep scraps.

There is little to choose between the two, except that Boys' High has more reserve material than the Cadets. Oglethorpe Freshmen on the Marist campus Friday at 3 o'clock. Fulton High was scheduled to play Marietta High Friday afternoon and Canton on November 1, but changed the Marietta date to November in order to play Tech High today.

Decatur High will play Cartersville in Cartersville and University School will meet Newnan High in Newnan Friday afternoon.

Commercial High, with several crimples on the sidelines faces one of its hardest games Friday afternoon at East Point against the strong Russell High eleven. Russell High surprised local prep fans two weeks ago in leading Marist to one touchdown, while Commercial High lost to Marist, 32 to 12, last week, while Russell was winning from Fulton.

In practice this week Commercial High scrimmaged Tech High's second team Monday at Piedmont park and the local prep fans two weeks ago in leading Marist to one touchdown, while Commercial High lost to Marist, 32 to 12, last week, while Russell was winning from Fulton.

A signal drill and a brief punting and passing drill will end the workout today in the final preparation for Friday's tilt.

TIGERS SHOW BETTER FORM

Injury List at Auburn Grows as Game With Vandy Nears.

Auburn, Ala., October 16.—Showing the best spirit that they have shown at any time this season, the Auburn Tigers were sent through a two-hour scrimmage against Coach Hal Lee's Blue Shirts Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the coming classic with Vanderbilt Saturday in Birmingham.

The scrubs were able to score against the varsity lads but the varsity team was severely handicapped because it had men on the sidelines who are members of Trainer Hutsell's casualty list as the important tilt with Vandy nears.

The ailing list has grown very rapidly this week, but all of the members are expected to be in good condition for Saturday's game.

The Bohlermen were able to make several touchdowns against the scrubs, due to some effective blocking on the parts of Captain Long, Harkins, Taylor, Tamplin, Granger and Schlich. The ball carriers did some excellent stiffarming at times, something they have been minus in so far as this season. Wible, Tamplin, Hatfield, Young, Granger and Spence were back there made the best showings during the afternoon workout.

HOOVER ASKED TO INSIST UPON SERVICE GAME

Chairman Britten Urges President To Start Move for Grid Classic.

Washington, October 16.—(AP)—Hopes for the resumption of the annual Army-Navy football classic were revived somewhat today after Chairman Britten, of the house naval committee, urged President Hoover to insist that athletic relations between West Point and Annapolis be restored and a game played this year.

Britten suggested that Secretaries Good and Adams call the superintendents of the academies together with an impartial authority on football regulations to adopt a set of rules on the controversy for more than two years. The annual game hereafter would be played according to the rules adopted.

To avoid a game this year in the home territory of either institution, Britten proposed that a neutral location be made, preferably Soldiers field in Chicago. He named December 6 as a post-season date, which both teams have open, and said every facility would be made available at Chicago for the teams and student bodies.

Britten said the president, who recently expressed the hope the teams would resume their yearly tilt, showed keen interest in the suggestion. He predicted the game would be played this year at Chicago, where the famous 21-21 tie in 1926 was fought by the service institutions before more than 100,000 persons.

Secretaries Good and Adams have discussed bringing Major General W. R. Smith, superintendent at West Point, and Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent at Annapolis, together in the hope that an agreement could be reached. However, they have taken the stand that they would not force the teams to play unless an agreement suitable to the Cadets and Midshipmen be reached.

Garden Seeks Station Arena
New York, October 15.—(AP)—The New York Times will offer tomorrow an offer for the "air rights" to the space above the Pennsylvania station was made today by Madison Square Garden, which proposes to erect an outdoor arena with a seating capacity of 50,000.

One offer for the "air rights," which is the real estate expression for the unoccupied space above the railroad tracks, was rejected by the railroad but the new proposal has not been considered.

INSTALLMENT XLVI TEMPTATION.

Everything had happened exactly as Douglas had planned. If Warren had done his part of the work they would at least know the identity of the chief within an hour or so.

There was no reason, he told himself, for him to wait any longer. He was moving towards the door when Cora spoke.

"I'm afraid the chief will be annoyed about that," she said with the air of one reluctantly conceding a point. "He may even hand you over to the police. But it's absurd to talk about your going back to Dartmoor."

"It's absurd to talk of anything else."

"Don't go for a moment, Douglas. The half hour isn't up yet. I've been thinking—oh, I can't bear the thought of your going back."

"You were able to bear the thought of sending me there in the first instance, my evidence."

"Yes, yes. O, don't remind me of that. It was my evidence, I know. But was my evidence true?"

"You know perfectly well it wasn't true," he said in genuine surprise.

"That's what I've begun to fear," she said tragically. "I've been thinking—there was another man there—a man I've seen recently. I believe—in fact, I'm almost sure now—that it was that man and not you who caught up that bottle and killed the plain-clothes man."

"It's a little late in the day for that kind of thing."

"But not too late." Her voice was little more than a whisper.

Before he could say anything she hurried on:

"I've been thinking so much about it lately that I have taken the advice of a very clever solicitor. You remember it was all dark at the time. I really thought it was you. The conversations I have had lately with the other man—don't you see, they'll believe I've been genuinely mistaken. I've been into it all with the solicitor. We could get a retrial and your pardon—and the other man, of course, who's really guilty."

The torrent of words abruptly checked itself. He was not looking in her direction, but he knew that she had come to his side.

"Shall I do it, Douglas?"

Her gestures were even more expressive than her words. It was as if she had said: "Marry me and I will go back on my evidence and make you a free man."

Cecily had been thrust out of his life. Ahead of him lay nine years of slavery in Dartmoor. If his body survived he knew that his personality would be destroyed.

It was not his reasoning brain that made him hesitate. It was something purely emotional—some atmosphere radiated by Cora herself that made a man think of all the soft, delicious, poisonous things of life.

And why not? Could anything be more destructive of a man's nature than penal servitude? And Cora loved him—in her primitive, cruel, unscrupulous way she loved him.

"You're offering me a bargain?" he demanded hoarsely.

"Yes. Love is always a matter of bargaining in the end."

She was waiting for him to speak. He knew that he must somehow face the issue and give Cora her answer.

He was in a very agony of indecision. Common sense urged him to close once with Cora's offer. But something beyond common sense, some dimly understood ideal, made him shrink from outright acceptance.

"Suppose I were to tell you that I could not accept your offer?" he said.

"But you can. You know you can't possibly marry Miss Warren with this hanging over your head."

"Suppose I refuse," he persisted.

"You will not take those steps to put me right—you will quite cheerfully let me go back to prison?"

"O, I don't know," she wailed.

"You're so hard and matter-of-fact, Douglas. Can't you see that I'm fighting for my life?"

"Nonsense! You can live perfectly well without me."

"Live!" she echoed. "I can go on breathing and eating—yes. I could even live without love—but don't you see—I am a slave, an absolute slave. You are the first man or woman who has defied the chief."

"If you hate the chief so much, why not help to put him behind prison bars?"

"I don't hate him. That's where he is so marvelous. I'm afraid of him. He makes me give up my whole life to doing what he wants. And you cannot put him behind prison bars, even you. It's simply—that when he finds he can't do anything with you he'll leave you alone. And me, too, if I'm with you."

It was useless, he saw, to try and reason with her. Before he could say anything she was on her feet and only hope—that's why I don't let you go. . . . You've only to say 'yes,' Douglas, and I'll go at once to the solicitor—and start proceedings."

"Why do you hum and ah over it, Douglas? . . . You've seen the worst side of me. But don't you understand I've never had a dog's chance. I've always had to do somebody's dirty work—oh damn!"

The last was uttered under her breath as the door opened and her maid appeared. The maid said something which Douglas could not catch, to which Cora replied: "No, I am busy now."

"Not too busy to see your true friends, Madame," said a voice behind Douglas and a moment later Martha Perralle had walked into the drawing room. "Ah, good afternoon, monsieur. I trust that my appearance will not again discompose you."

Without answering, Douglas stared at the woman who had betrayed Cecily into the clutches of the gang, struggling to control his indignation. This woman knew him under the name of Douglas and would, no doubt, promptly impart the information to Cora.

"You and I have a little secret, eh, Monsieur," she said as if divining his thoughts.

It mattered little now, he thought, what Cora or the rest of the gang knew about him. At any rate, he was not going to accept this woman's offer of friendship.

"We share the secret that you played on Miss Warren, about as dirty a trick as any one woman can play on another," he exclaimed.

The Frenchwoman, in spite of her dragon-like appearance, could laugh like a girl and her eye could still sparkle with mischief.

"It is true. Yet I can congratulate myself that all my infamy was brought to nothing by the gallantry of Monsieur."

Universal Conscription In Time of War Opposed By Federation of Labor

Would Mean Dissolution of "Trade Union," Says Resolution Adopted at Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., October 16.—(AP)—Without dissent or debate the convention of the American Federation of Labor today expressed its opposition to measures pending before congress for universal conscription in time of war.

It adopted a resolution committee report declaring it to be essential as an evidence of good faith to the world that the American people shall, at least for the present, refrain from warlike preparations in the enactment of legislation.

Conscription of labor in wartime, it added, would mean that "trades unions would be dissolved."

A traditional policy of American labor, committing the federation to a non-partisan political position, was reaffirmed by the convention without debate. It called upon "all trade unionists to prepare to participate in the next congressional election under the old plan of supporting candidates friendly to labor, and opposing its enemies." It warned delegates that "if labor expects to eliminate labor injunctions from the federal courts, it must have friends in congress," and called for "most energetic activities by trade unionists throughout the United States" in the 1930 campaign.

Private employment agencies "should be made to feel effects of competition from free public employment agencies," another adopted resolution said, while still another asked labor forces to support federal census efforts next year to collect unemployment statistics, that "opportunities for dealing effectively with this vexing problem, might become more numerous."

A proposal that the convention direct the federation executive to study "the important question of preventing discrimination against older workers in industry with a view to formulating definite plans to remedy the declared evil" was adopted after considerable oratory but little opposition. Delegate after delegate, from half a score of crafts, told of the tendency to eliminate older men from employment in their industries.

Unanimous assent was given to the proposition that "labor should own and control one high-power radio broadcasting station," with proper assignment of federal radio channels. A following resolution pledged support to the efforts of station WCFB, maintained by labor organizations at Chicago and urging that it be supported in its efforts to obtain "a free and untrammelled wave length," was adopted.

GOVERNOR ABSENT, CLEMENCY CASES POSTPONED A WEEK

The audience to clemency plans, usually given by Governor L. G. Hardman on Thursday, will be postponed this week. The governor is on a brief vacation in the mountains of north Georgia, it was announced at his office Wednesday. He probably will return to his office Monday.

Ford Dealers Exhibit Models At Ansley Hotel

Hundreds of persons filed through the exhibit of Ford cars Wednesday, which is being staged jointly by the dealers of Atlanta in the main dining room of the Ansley hotel. It will continue today and Friday.

The complete line of Ford Model A cars and Model AA trucks are included in the exhibit, and this is the first time since the introduction of these models that such a display has been held in Atlanta.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the cars into the dining room. It was necessary to raise them from the street to the second floor by use of a crane on the roof and then pull them inside through a window.

In holding the exhibit the Ford dealers of Atlanta are co-operating with the Ford Motor Company, and a number of interesting demonstrations are given. The exhibit is open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.

Dealers co-operating in the exhibit have made arrangements to give anyone interested a demonstration, en route to the display, on request. Also arrangements may be made for demonstrations at the showing.

ADVERTISING CLUB TO HOLD MEETINGS AT PIEDMONT HOTEL

Beginning today, the Advertising Club of Atlanta will hold its regular weekly luncheon meetings at the Piedmont hotel, which was reopened Tuesday after being completely remodeled. Announcement is made by the chairman of the club, E. V. Dunbar, that this meeting will be entirely social in its nature.

The entertainment committee has arranged a snappy program for the meeting and it is expected that a capacity crowd will be on hand to enjoy the fun. Mr. Dunbar has announced that programs of this nature will be given periodically, rather than having business meetings every week.

State Anniversary Plans Are Begun By Willis Sutton

Invitations were issued Wednesday by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, to Georgians in all parts of the state to meet with him in Macon October 22 to consider plans for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the colony of Georgia.

Mr. Sutton recently was appointed general chairman of the anniversary celebration committee by the Georgia Association and it is his intention to commemorate the event by a thorough study of the state's resources, by helping to secure a complete highway system and by marking historic spots in all sections of the state.

PROJECTS TOTALING $300,000 AWARDED BY HIGHWAY BOARD

Contracts totaling approximately $300,000 were awarded Tuesday for the construction of state highway projects, it was announced at the capitol Wednesday.

The largest of the contracts, for the construction of 6.6 miles of concrete road in Brooks county, between Quinman and Thomsville, was given to Hall and Brown. Their bid was $134,340.62.

Other awards were:

Gwinnett County—Laying 1.9 miles of topsoil between St. Mountain and Snellville, awarded to J. W. Trammell, at $33,733.76.

Houston County—Laying .75 miles of limestone road, between Macon and Perry, given to Campbell Construction Company, at $16,534.75.

Richmond County—Construction of a culvert on the Augusta-Thomson road, awarded to C. M. Williams, at $4,020.96.

Richmond-Jefferson Counties—Construction of a culvert on the Augusta-Louisville road, given to W. J. Tidwell, at $12,379.67.

Troup County—Laying 4.2 miles of concrete road, at Chipley, given to J. B. McCrory, at $87,950.32.

Waycross, Ga., October 16.—(Special.)—Ware County Post No. 10, American Legion, has named as the committee for the troupe of Boy Scouts it is sponsoring Dr. George E. Atwood, J. A. Lott and H. B. Lee, Jr. The scoutmaster is Robert LaFrance. An assistant scoutmaster is to be named soon.

Bank Clearings Pass $16,000,000 Twice During Week

Atlanta bank clearings for the second time this week passed the $16,000,000 mark. Actual figures as reported by the Atlanta Clearing House Association were $16,490,934.10 as compared with $12,400,817.31 for the corresponding day last year—an increase of $4,090,116.79.

Wednesday's clearings have been passed but once this year, when last Monday's figures of over $18,000,000 reached the highest mark recorded since post-war boom days.

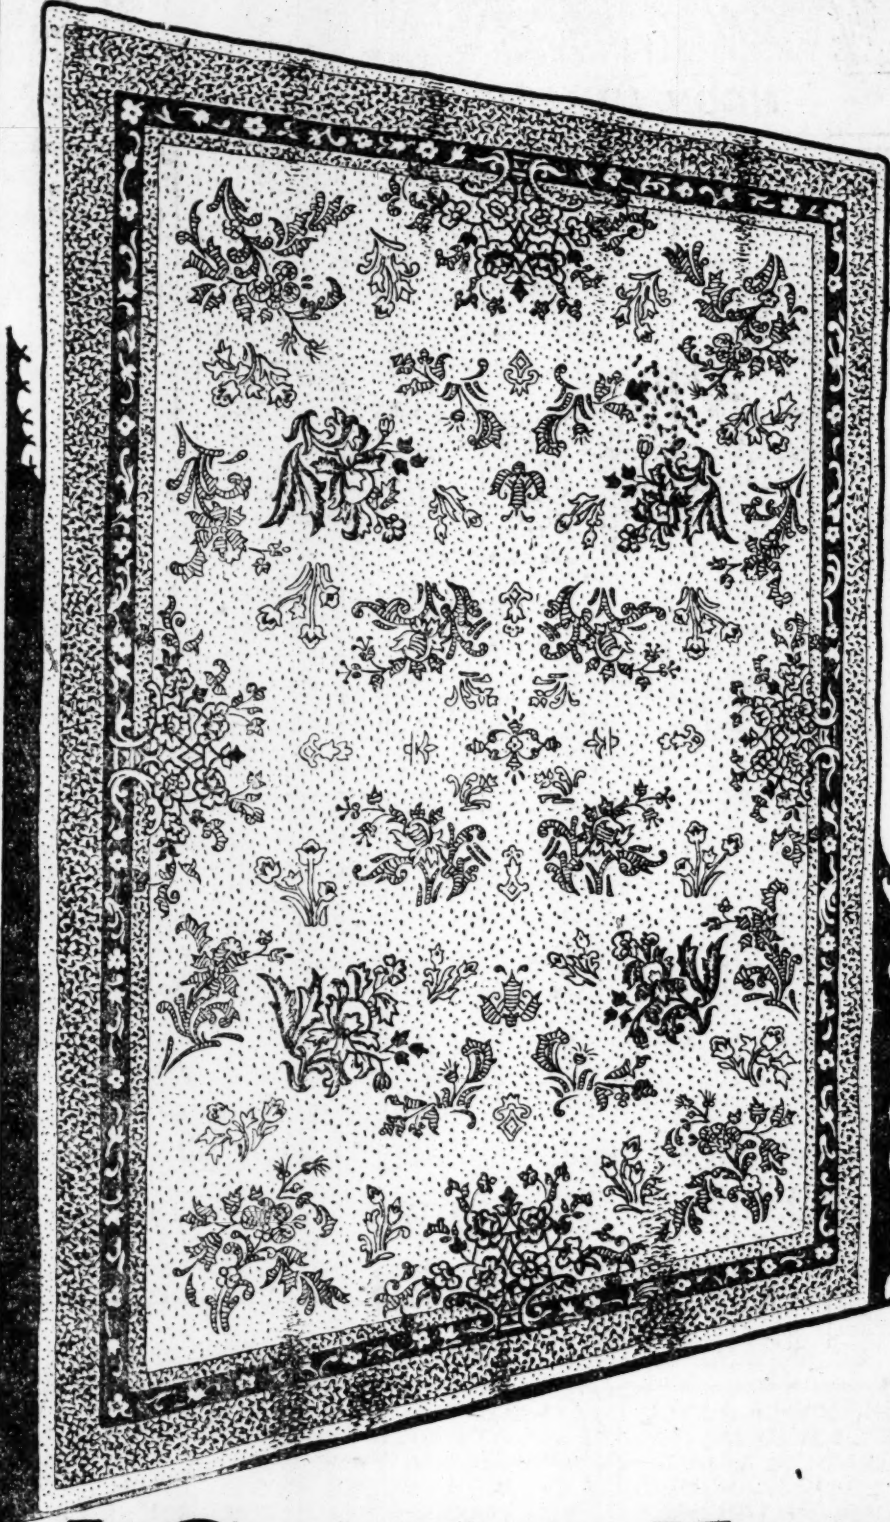

The clearings for Wednesday also were the second highest mark reached this year, the third highest being recorded last March 18, when the Clearing House Association reported over $14,000,000.

Figures for the corresponding day for last week were $10,627,385.66.

MISS SARAH FOOTE WEDS DR. JOINER AT QUIET CEREMONY

Brilliant Reception Follows At Brother, Sister's Home

The marriage of Miss Sarah Foote and Dr. Hartwell Joiner was quietly solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ogilby Foote, in the Pershing Point apartments in the presence of a small group of relatives and friends, the Rev. Dr. W. L. Dusen, pastor of the St. Mark's Methodist church, officiating. The occasion marked the fortieth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, who are numbered among Atlanta's leading citizens. The impressive rites were read in the living room, the bride and her attendants standing before a bank of palms interspersed with floor baskets of white chrysanthemums and cathedral candelabras holding white burning tapers. Miss Laura Troutman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Troutman, was the bride's only attendant and Dan Joiner acted as best man. Miss Troutman's costume was an exquisite model fashioned of delicate green tulle made with billowy tulle ruffles that reached to an ankle length. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and valley lilies.

The bride's youthful niece and nephew, little Miss Margie Troutman and Master Henry Troutman, Jr., held the ribbons through which the bride and groom passed, the former wearing a dainty frock of peach-colored chiffon and the latter attired in a smart white satin suit.

Beautiful Bride.

The beautiful young bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Walter Ogilby Foote, wore the wedding gown of her sister, Mrs. Jonathan Woody, formerly Miss Anne Foote, whose marriage took place five years ago. The beautiful gown was modeled of ivory satin trimmed with Princess lace, the exquisite lace design outlined with seed pearls. A graceful train of the satin fell from the back waistline and was entirely covered by the magnificent veil of Princess lace that fell from a lace cap confined to her head by tiny clusters of orange blossoms, the veil also having been worn by Mrs. Woody. The bride carried a shower bouquet formed entirely of valley lilies.

The group of close friends who witnessed the ceremony included Misses Sarah Southland, of Athens; Augusta Porter, Marion Peacock, Lena Knox, Hannah Sterne and Sarah Law and Charles Hunt, Edward Murphy, Bruce Schacter, Edwin Sterne, Wilbur Glenn, Wadley Glenn and Eugene Gunby.

Brilliant Reception.

Immediately after the marriage service Mr. and Mrs. Henry Troutman, the bride's brother and sister, entertained at a brilliant reception at their home on The Prado in Ansley park, the guests numbering 200 members of Atlanta society. Mr. and Mrs. Troutman were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Foote, the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Woody. Mrs. Troutman wore a gown of turquoise blue tulle trimmed with a large bow at the left waistline of purple tulle. Her shoulder bouquet was of deep purple orchids. Mrs. Foote's costume was a handsome model of black lace combined with black satin. A shoulder bouquet of orchids is completed the costume. Mrs. Woody's gown was fashioned of shell pink chiffon modeled over pink satin. She wore a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. Miss Rowena Joiner, of Atlanta, Ga., the groom's sister, was attired in yellow chiffon and carried a gold colored satin and she wore a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

Those who assisted in entertaining were the girls who witnessed the ceremony, and Misses Patti Porter, Suzanne Knox and Frances Boykin. Misses Esther Garrett and Frances Barnett kept the bride's book. Those who served punch were Misses Deas Smith, Laura Troutman, Betty Gregg, Emma Middlebrooks, Betty Ann Bryan, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Florrie Atkins and Helen Parker.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Bartow Strang, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Pusey, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Clinton, all of Chattanooga, Tenn.; W. C. Joiner, Misses Nolle and Rowena Joiner and Mrs. Henry Smith, sister of the groom, of Tonnelle, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Beam, of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Sessions and Mrs. T. C. Nolan, of Marietta, and Dr. and Mrs. Gustav Orholm, of Fayetteville, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Stewart Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary at Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Stewart, prominent and beloved Atlantans who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last evening at a reception at their home on Juniper street at which a large number of friends and relatives called to extend congratulations. Mrs. Stewart was formerly Miss Ida Kiser, one of three daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kiser, who were numbered among Atlanta's pioneers.

The golden note of sentiment was beautifully and appropriately expressed at the reception given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Stewart at their home on Juniper street in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. An exquisite color motif of gold and white was effectively carried out in the decorations of the rooms where the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Dean, and their grandchildren, Ewing Dean, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Dean. Deep yellow-shaded dahlias and chrysanthemums were artistically arranged in vases placed on the mantels, bookcases and consoles. Single candlesticks holding lighted yellow tapers were placed at intervals on the mantels, and the side and chandelier lights were veiled with golden silk shades. In the dining room long-stemmed Claudia Peruet roses and Easter lilies were used in the exquisite floral decoration. The table was overlaid with a handsome lace cover veiling yellow satin. A shawl in the center by a gold loving cup filled with Claudia Peruet roses and Easter lilies.

During the evening a large number of the hosts' friends called to extend congratulations to the beloved couple, who are numbered among Atlanta's leading pioneers. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are representatives of distinguished Georgia families and have resided in Atlanta throughout their entire 50 years of married life, during which time they have been prominently identified with the city's cultural, social and civic activities.

Miss Hughes Weds Mr. Jones At Quiet Ceremony in Decatur

Decatur, Ga., October 16.—Among the important fall weddings was that of Miss Mary Hughes to Phillips Jones, of Newnan, taking place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodman Hughes, on Adams street, in Decatur, with only members of the two families being present. The Rev. J. R. King performed the ceremony in the living room before an improvised altar of palms and ferns with floor baskets of Easter lilies, white dahlias and white chrysanthemums in the foreground, while cathedral candelabra, holding white tapers, cast an effective glow.

Musical Program.—Miss Mildred Goodrum, cousin of the bride, played "O Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony and Vaughan Ozmer sang "Because God Made You Mine." Little Sarah Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Green, and Margaret Cheves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Cheves, entered to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, bearing the white satin ribbons forming the aisle for the bridal party.

They wore frocks of pink chiffon and little waist bouquets of vari-colored flowers. Miss Frances Hughes, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and wore rose taupe chiffon, fashioned with high waist line, a bertha and long tight sleeves. The skirt had an uneven hem line. Her hat was felt to match, trimmed with blue, and she carried and arm bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride entered with her sister, Frank Goodman Hughes, who gave her in marriage. Her becoming costume was of King's blue flat crepe, a straight line model, having pleats let into the skirt, high neck, with egg-shell crepe streamers from one side around the neck to the back, hanging to the bottom of the skirt. The sleeves were long and tight. She wore an egg-shell felt hat trimmed in blue matching the dress. Her flowers were valley lilies with Sweetheart roses, giving a little color to the center of the bouquet. The groom and his best man, Alonzo Norris, met the bride at the altar.

lace and a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Wedding Journey.—Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones left on a three-week motor trip to New York, Boston, Niagara Falls, and other points of interest. Her traveling costume was of brown tweed, the brown sport coat being trimmed with fox fur, her felt hat and accessories matched the becoming suit.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Guests from Newnan were: Mr. and Mrs. Garland Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey North, Miss Emma North, Mrs. Ella Norris, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Hewlett Hall, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Goodrum, James Goodrum, Mr. and Mrs. Wellborn Hill, Mrs. Berry Thompson, Mrs. W. G. Sadler, the groom's grandmother; R. V. and Mrs. Charles Liphann, Miss Elizabeth Liphann.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

STRIPED CHIPMUNK'S HANDY POCKETS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Whatever nature does you'll find. A sound, sure purpose is behind.

—Striped Chipmunk.

Flip the Terrier was feeling a little out of sorts. He was feeling just as most people feel when they are being laughed at. It is only a very exceptional person who can enjoy being laughed at. In fact, Flip had turned his back to Bowser and had begun to walk away stiffly. Merely to look at him you would have known that Flip's feelings were hurt.

"Excuse me, Flip," said Bowser in his deep voice. "Don't feel hurt and don't be cross. I couldn't help laughing and by and by you'll laugh. You are not the first one and you will not be the last one to think that Striped Chipmunk has something wrong with him when he has his pockets full. I don't suppose you even know that Striped Chipmunk has pockets."

Flip stopped. "No," said he, "I didn't know that Striped Chipmunk had pockets until you mentioned it. What are those pockets like? Where are those pockets, and what are they for?"

"Those pockets," replied Bowser, "are 'tho pockets. They are in his cheeks, one in each cheek. The opening to each pocket is inside his mouth. They are for carrying supplies—food supplies—to his storehouse. Now have you any more questions?"

"A lot of them," replied Flip, who had regained his good nature and was sitting down. "I didn't know that anyone had pockets like that. You and I haven't any pockets. Black Pussy hasn't any pockets. As I said before, I don't know anyone with pockets excepting Striped Chipmunk. If he has pockets and good use for them, why shouldn't the rest of us have them?"

"If Old Mother Nature should come along right now and offer to give you pockets, what could you do with them?" asked Bowser.

Flip thought this over for a few minutes. "I don't know," he finally confessed. "Why couldn't I use them as Striped Chipmunk does?"

"For the very good reason that you don't store up food," replied Bowser. "I bury bones," spoke up Flip quickly. "Isn't that storing up food?"

Bowser chuckled. "That's so," said he. "I saw you bury a bone this morning. It was a very nice bone. Instantly Flip jumped to his feet. 'Did you dig it up?' he demanded. 'Did you dig up that bone?' His voice was sharp and snappy.

Bowser chuckled again. "Yes," said he, "I did."

"That was my bone!" snapped Flip. "It was until you buried it," replied Bowser. "Then it belonged to whoever should find it. You know perfectly well that that is the law. Now, getting back to the matter of those pockets, supposing Old Mother Nature gave you a pocket in each cheek. Can you picture yourself getting a bone into one of those pockets?"

Flip confessed that he couldn't, but he didn't see what that had to do with the subject. He wanted Bowser to explain.

"Well, you see, it's this way," said Bowser. "Old Mother Nature has given Striped Chipmunk pockets in his cheeks because he has use for them. He has to store food for the winter and he has to collect that food and carry it to his storehouse under ground. So Old Mother Nature has given him those pockets for carrying purposes."

$2,000,000 TOTAL ALIMONY SOUGHT BY OHIO WOMAN

Cincinnati, October 16.—(AP)—Permanent alimony of $2,000,000 is sought by Mrs. Roberta Mosby from Gilbert H. Mosby, president of the Mosby Medicine Company, who is suing for divorce.

Mosby charges his wife with neglect. Her cross-petition charges neglect and cruelty. They were married in 1921. There are no children.

Mrs. Mosby lists her husband's property as realty here valued at $400,000, 50 per cent of the capital stock of the Mosby Medicine Company, valued at $4,500,000, and a trust fund of $100,000.

She states his entire estate has been accumulated since their marriage and contends she has a contingent dower interest in all of it.

RICH'S

Glowing health and sturdy strength are in every drop of fresh Foremost Milk

YOUR BABY'S MILK

do you know that it is fresh? Clean? SAFE?

THOSE tiny fingers curl so firmly around the bottle that it holds his life-sustaining food—the pink mouth sucks at it so hungrily.

You—his mother—do you know if the milk your baby drinks is really fresh, clean, unadulterated and free from the germs of disease? Will it give him the strength he needs—or does it carry an invisible danger?

Milk is nature's most perfect food. But all milk is easily contaminated—bacteria multiply rapidly in it without changing its appearance. Only with a microscope can the germs be seen. That is why the U. S. Government and health authorities throughout the country advise pasteurized milk—to safeguard your baby's health against typhoid, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, and tuberculosis.

Foremost Milk comes from well-kept, well-cared-for herds. All of it is scientifically tested in sanitary dairies.

But doubly to protect your baby's precious health, it is heated to 145 degrees Fahrenheit and kept there for thirty minutes. Then it is rapidly chilled to 50 degrees. By this simple process, which in no way deteriorates the food value of the milk, harmful bacteria are destroyed.

When you give your baby Foremost Milk, you know that it carries only health. At the better grocery stores—look for the word Foremost on the bottle top.

Perpetual Scholarships and Gifts Feature Tallulah Trustees' Meet

A perpetual scholarship of $2,000 as a service tribute from friends bearing the name Lillie Price-Smith with $1,500 already paid in; a gift of $500 from David Woodward, of Atlanta; a perpetual scholarship pledge for $2,000 from the Augusta Woman's Club; the announcement of $1,176.02 in supplies given through Mrs. H. M. Nicholas, supply chairman; report by Mrs. Eugene Harrington, president Young Matrons' Circle, and Mrs. Beaumont Davidson, Jr., treasurer, of $5,103 brought in during the year as the result of work by Young Matrons' Circle of Atlanta; a perpetual scholarship of $2,000 by bequest from the late Mrs. Josephine Cloudman, which will bear her name; the introduction of Mrs. W. E. Hopper, of Augusta, representing the Georgia Order King's Sons and Daughters, donors of a perpetual scholarship of $2,000; a gift of $500 from P. C. McDuffie, of the Garden Hills Company, and of $250 from Eugene V. Haynes, of Haynes Manor Company; an annual scholarship of $150 from the Atlanta Federation of Clubs as a tribute to the retiring president, Mrs. Norman Sharp, to be known as the Deyrl Sharp scholarship, were some of the financial highlights of the meeting, with dinner, of Tallulah Falls school trustees last evening held at the Atlanta Women's Club. Mrs. John K. Otley, president of the board, presided, and Mrs. Price Gilbert acted as secretary.

More Money Needed.

As an offset to these financial windfalls the trustees emphasized the fact that the school's increased size and expansion demands an even enlarging budget and federated clubwomen and friends of education were urged to renewed efforts. Student body now numbers 288, with 15 teachers and 11 grades—is a state accredited high school of Group 1.

Seated at dinner were the following, all of whom were presented and spoke briefly of their abiding interest in the progress of work of the "Light in the Mountain": Mesdames A. H. Brenner, John K. Otley, Z. I. Fitzpatrick, Price Gilbert, Price Smith, Bolling Jones, H. H. Tift, Samuel Inman, L. G. Hardman, Willard C. Patterson, Preston S. Arkwright, A. B. Ritchie, Athens, district presidents; W. E. Hopper, Augusta; Miss Emily Woodward, Vienna; Mesdames S. V. Sanford, Robert K. Rambo, S. E. Boykin, A. J. Merrill, A. A. Aeklin, John MacDougald, Stewart Brown, David Woodward, Edwin K. Large, H. M.

Nichols, L. O. Freeman, Eva Corrigan, W. D. Williamson, Misses Jessie Candlish, Anne Taylor, Marie Cannon, Mesdames Eugene Harrington, Beaumont Davidson, Jr., Lawrence Willet, Ben F. Parker, Rembert Marshall, Hugh M. Dorsey and Thomas W. Tift.

Mrs. David Woodward, chairman of student aid foundation committee, was presented and most enthusiastically received. She spoke on the Frances Liggett Wey memorial fund, raised in memory of the late Mrs. H. B. Wey, for 20 years head of student aid foundation, a twin educational interest with Tallulah Falls school of Georgia federation. Mrs. E. K. Large, secretary of the committee, was also presented.

Miss Woodward Attends.

Miss Emily Woodward, of Vienna, immediate past president of the Georgia Press Association, was especially honored guest at the dinner and spoke of her enthusiasm for educational work for the Georgia mountaineer. Miss Candlish, superintendent of the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital, Anne Taylor and Marie Cannon, two young graduates of the school who are in nurse's training under her care, were introduced and presented. Miss Woodward was the picture of last year's graduating class of 11 girls posed against a background of roses, with their sponsor, Mrs. L. G. Hardman, in the center of the group.

Does EVERY woman know

Every woman knows how to transform leftovers into attractive and palatable hashes and stews. But not every woman has discovered yet that Heinz Tomato Ketchup can, in turn, transform the hash or stew into something wholly delicious.

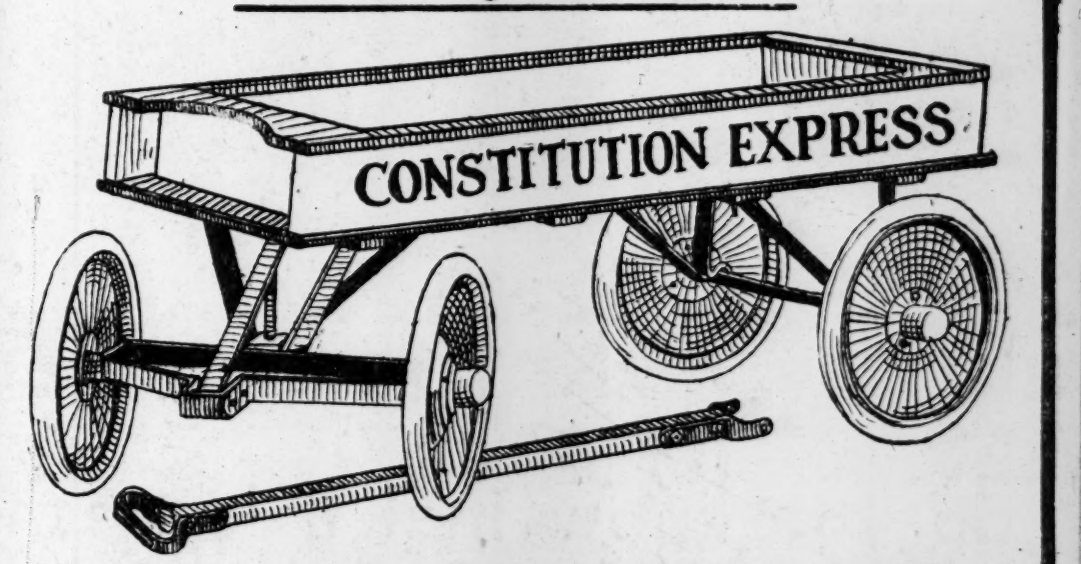

For the rich, red goodness of Heinz Tomato Ketchup adds just the right amount of spicy flavor. It's the very essence of plump, ripe, garden-fresh tomatoes—cooked in sunny kitchens—spiced so satisfyingly. How appetizing it can make even the most commonplace dish—how good! Where can you match its piquant zestfulness!

You'll find, too, in the rest of the 57 Varieties—such as Heinz Cooked Spaghetti, Heinz Apple Butter, Heinz Oven-Baked Beans, Heinz Rice Flakes—extra flavor and good value at prices that are equally reasonable.

Topic of 'Publicity' in Year Books Would Be Advantageous To Club

Surprising to the state editor of the Georgia Federation is the fact that few clubs include the topic of publicity in the year books, or publish a program of any kind upon the subject. In order to properly put before the GEORGIA Mother's Plan is succeeding...

WHEN your child is headachy, bilious, feverish, half-sick, with no appetite or energy, nine times out of ten, just one thing is to blame: constipation! Cleanse the little digestive tract with California Fig Syrup and see how health is sweetened; how tongue cleared; eyes brightened. More than two doses are seldom necessary to drive away all signs of a clogged system; make a child happy.

There isn't a child who doesn't love its rich, fruity flavor. Improved appetite, digestion and assimilation follow its use. A child's entire system is toned and strengthened.

Mrs. M. L. Wall, 252 Stovall St., Atlanta, says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. I give it at the first sign of upset or colds. Their wonderful condition proves this a good plan." Caution: The genuine always bears the name California.

FOOD FOR THE FAT

TWO GRAINS OF GLAND FOOD DAILY THEN THE FOODS YOU LOVE

FAT people, of course, should not over-eat. They rarely do. But starvation is a very risky way to reduce.

Modern science finds that a common cause of excess fat lies in an under-active gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. People grow fat when its secretions are scanty, despite all exercise and diet.

So physicians everywhere, in treating obesity, now feed a certain gland food. They combat the cause. The results are amazing, and they come in the right way.

A famous medical laboratory embodies that method in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. All can see the results on every hand. Excess fat is far less common than twenty years ago.

The Marmola prescription is not secret. The formula is stated in every box. All the good results are explained. So users know why the flesh reduction brings such extra health and vigor.

No abnormal exercise or diet. Simply take four tablets daily until you reach the weight desired. Then you will know that the cause is corrected. An abnormal condition has been changed.

Try Marmola. It has served so many for so long that you owe this to yourself. Watch the new youth and beauty as it comes, the new health and vigor. Then tell your friends. Go start today.

Dainty frocks demand this inconspicuous sanitary protection

Designed for inconspicuous protection—and so light, so cool, so comfortable in warmest weather

WEAR your sheerest clothes day after day the whole year through, without the slightest fear of embarrassment... Kotex makes it possible.

Kotex is the shaped sanitary pad that is non-detectable. The corners are rounded and tapered. There is no awkward bulk.

85% of hospitals use Kotex filter. Can you imagine any more eloquent tribute to Kotex than this? Surgeons in 85% of the hospitals in this country select Kotex filter (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) for their patients! Not only for sanitary pads, but also for surgical dressings. This is the same, identical, Kotex-made Cellucotton.

Kotex gives complete protection. It actually absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture. So bulk and weight are unnecessary. In their place, you have lightness... coolness... perfect comfort... even in warmest weather.

Kotex deodorizes, too—so much more important on warm days. And disposes instantly like tissue. The Cellucotton absorbent wadding layers can easily be adjusted as needs change. For all these reasons Kotex... favored by millions for years—round us... becomes indispensable in warm weather. For sale everywhere.

KOTEX
The New Sanitary Pad which deodorizes

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Safe, secure... keeps your mind at ease.

3—Kotex filter is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

4—In hospitals... Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

5—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly by a patented process.

Kotex—45¢ for 12—at any drug, dry goods or department store.

Kotex Super-Size—55¢ for 12.

Chapters in Arrears Given Privilege at U. D. Convention

Moultrie, Ga., October 16.—Overriding the ruling of Mrs. Trox Bankston, state president, the convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy this afternoon by an overwhelming vote seated and extended full convention privileges to delegates representing Bainbridge, Thomasville, Hawkinsville, Joplin, Roberts, Vienna, Waycross and Moultrie chapters.

The question as to their right to privileges arose first at a meeting of the executive board when it developed that the delegates had not paid their dues two weeks prior to the opening of the convention.

Mrs. Bankston held that they should be seated but denied the right to vote. The situation projected itself on the convention floor this afternoon when Mrs. L. D. T. Quimby, state treasurer, announced the dues had not been received from the chapters prior to the expiration of the time limit. Mrs. Quimby, however, pointed out the checks had been put in the mails in ample time, but had been delayed by storm conditions which interrupted railroad service.

Out of Order. She moved that in view of this fact that the delegates be granted the privileges of the convention but was ruled out of order. Mrs. M. D. Wilson, Atlanta, sought to speak on the question but also was ruled out of order. The president requested the parliamentarian to read that section of the constitution dealing with the time limit on dues.

Finally a motion was made to accept the motion, which was carried.

Editors are always willing to help and advise as regards news and reports, and all that is requested is these simple rules.

THREE MEN KILLED AND SEVEN INJURED IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Peterboro, N. H., October 16.—(United News.)—Three railroad men were killed instantly and seven others injured, two of them seriously, in a head-on collision of two freight trains near here today.

Failure of one of the trains to observe block signals was believed by railroad officials to have caused the wreck. The accident occurred on the Peterboro branch of the Boston & Maine railroad near the Nakor station.

deal the question from the chair but this morning was withdrawn when the parliamentarian, Mrs. Frank Harrold, of Americus, ruled that under the existing circumstances the delegates could be granted the right to vote if two-thirds of the convention favored it. The vote in favor of seating them was almost unanimous.

Today's session was given over largely to hearing reports from the state officers and making awards. The Margaret Hunt award for the largest number of new members went to the Atlanta chapter, as did also the Haines banner for the greatest increase in membership on a percentage basis.

A prize of $10 gold offered by Mrs. Trox Bankston for the greatest increase in membership was awarded to the Catoosa chapter at Ringgold. The Alice Baxter cup and $5 in gold offered by Mrs. Bankston were awarded to the Woodland chapter, one of the youngest groups in the state. Several other awards will be made later, the president announced.

Among the reports were those made by the state historian, Mrs. Kirby Smith Anderson, of Madison, and the state editor, Mrs. J. J. Harris, of Sandersville. Mrs. Harris has served in that capacity for four years. Social features on the program today and tonight included a luncheon at the local U. D. C. chapter, a tea by the local D. A. C. chapter and a reception at the home of Mrs. W. C. Vereen.

Miss Foster To Be Honored At Party Series

Fort McPherson, October 16.—Social affairs in garrison circles continue to center around Miss Catherine Foster, a charming bride-elect of the month whose marriage to Edgar Alexander Sirmeyer, Jr., lieutenant of infantry, United States army, will be solemnized at a brilliant ceremony at the post chapel with Chaplain J. G. Baurd performing the impressive service in the presence of a number of fashionable representatives of civilian and military social circles. Tuesday, October 22, Mrs. Augustus B. Jones entertains at a luncheon at her quarters in the garrison in honor of Miss Foster, including in her guest list a number of the post personnel.

The same day Miss Foster will be honored guest at a bridge-tee given by Mrs. Albert G. Wing at her quarters the post, Wednesday, October 23, the Fort McPherson Officers' Club will be host at a bridge-tee given by Mrs. J. Vincent Falisi and Miss Francetta Falisi at their quarters in the garrison.

An anticipated addition to garrison circles is Mrs. George H. Estes, the charming wife of Brigadier General Estes, who will arrive next week from Fort Des Moines, Iowa, where she has been visiting during General Estes' absence with the troops at Camp Jackson.

Captain Charles Core Gans has been assigned on recruiting duty in New Orleans, La., and with Mrs. Gans leave at an early date for that city.

Mrs. John Hall has recently undergone an operation at Walter Reed hospital and has recovered nicely and will join Chaplain Hall at his new station in Philadelphia, Pa.

TEN-FOOT SIDEWALKS ON HUNTER ST. SOUGHT

Re-establishment of 10-foot sidewalks on Hunter street, between Whitehall and Pryor streets, will be sought in a petition signed by every merchant and property owner along the block, it was announced Wednesday.

The petition will be presented to the bridge committee of city council headed by Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, of the seventh ward, at the next session of that body.

Petitioners will show a group of photographs which set out the inconvenience of the stepping public along the street since the sidewalk areas have been cut to five feet on each side of the street.

Pedestrians are hardly able to pass three abreast, it was stated, and the prestige of the block as a shopping center is threatened and impaired by conversion of the sidewalks to roadways.

Petitioners also claim that the street with 10-foot sidewalks would be able to handle all the vehicular traffic in the block without inconvenience.

Included among the petitioners are the J. M. High Company, Keely Company and all other business houses and property owners in the block.

Text of the petition follows: "The undersigned petitioners, being property owners and business firms located on Hunter street, between Whitehall street and Pryor street, S. W., hereby request your honorable body to widen the sidewalks in this block to their original width."

"We hereby submit that the sidewalks in this block are too narrow to accommodate the pedestrian traffic and are detrimental to our business."

"We further submit that at the time the present sidewalks were being laid that this matter was taken up with your committee and that we had your assurance that if the present width did not prove adequately sufficient to care for pedestrian traffic that additional width would be added."

NEW YORK OWNED BANK IS OPENED AT WINTER HAVEN

Winter Haven, Fla., October 16.—(AP)—The American National bank of Winter Haven, opened its doors for business yesterday with a capital of $100,000 and a paid-in surplus of an equal amount. MOTORIST, WHOSE AUTO KILLED BOY, ENDS OWN LIFE

New York, October 16.—(AP)—Fearing of being unable to prove his innocence in the death of a 4-year-old boy killed by an automobile, Anton Johnson, a Brooklyn jeweler, took his life a few hours before he was to go on trial for manslaughter.

Witnesses had picked Johnson's car as the one that had struck Anthony De Phillip. At the preliminary hearing Johnson pleaded not guilty, denying that it was his car that had struck the boy.

His wife said he had been depressed since his arraignment, and yesterday, after a vain search for a witness he wanted to call in his defense, went to his room and took poison.

Mrs. H. C. Allen, Jr., will preside at the tea table.

Woman Artist Found Near Death; Attacker Sought

Milwaukee, October 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Alice J. Carrothers, a 32-year-old woman, was found unconscious and near death from head wounds by police who battered their way into her apartment late last night.

The woman, widow of a once prominent businessman, had not been seen for two days, and neighbors, alarmed, notified police. The officers forced their way through several doors before reaching the bathroom, where Mrs. Carrothers was found.

Police said she had been struck over the head several times. The attack, they believe, took place several days ago.

Mrs. Carrothers is known in Milwaukee as a talented painter. She

SIX GEORGIA CHILDREN TO GET ESSAY PRIZES

Safety Contest Competition Winners Are Selected.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, October 16.—Official notification that they have been declared winners in the statewide safety essay contest conducted last year by the highway education board today was forwarded to six school children of the state of Georgia. For the last year the highway education board has been conducting these contests in every state in the Union and plans are now maturing for the ninth annual competition to be conducted during the present school year. The contest in Georgia is conducted in cooperation with M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools.

Margaret Barlow of Bluffton school, Bluffton, was the winner of first state honors and received a check for $5 and a gold medal. Second prize was won by Mildred Eiland, a pupil of LaGrange High school, LaGrange. Second prize consists of a check of $10 and a silver medal.

Four Third Prizes.

There are four third prize winners in the state, all of whom will receive checks for $5 and bronze medals. They are Frances Jackson, Carrollton High school, Carrollton; Lola Mae Dickson, of the Hamilton High school in Bainbridge; Martha Davis, seventh grade pupil of Hamilton, and Charlotte Paxon, seventh grade pupil of the Manchester High school, Manchester.

State honors for the safety lesson contest, also conducted by the highway education board and open to all elementary school teachers, were won by Miss Mabel Herring, of Clinch, a teacher in the junior high school, Bainbridge. Honorable mention in this contest went to C. W. Wilcher, a teacher in the elementary school, Davisboro, and Miss Georgia Sinclair, a teacher in the Hamilton High school, Hamilton. The lesson by Miss Herring will be entered in competition with those submitted by teachers of other states and national judges will select the three best lessons. The writer of the best of these three safety lessons will receive a check of $500 and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid, while writers of the second and third best lessons will be awarded checks for $300 and $200, respectively.

In National Competition.

The essay submitted by Margaret Barlow will also be entered in the national competition in which judges will select the best three from all states. The winner of this contest will receive a trip to Washington with all expenses paid, when he will be presented with a gold watch, while second and third prize winners will receive gold watches only.

The contest is conducted by the highway education board, the prizes are given by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. In the state contest, 442 medals and the same number of cash prizes awarded, in addition to the three prizes to the national winners, were given to the contest only national prizes are awarded.

GIRL UNCONSCIOUS FOR 100 HOURS EXPECTED TO DIE

Sarah Eleanor Dutton, 4-year-old daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dutton, Riverside, was not expected to survive the night by physicians at Grady hospital late Wednesday, where she has been unconscious for more than 100 hours.

The child was run over late Saturday afternoon near the residence by a motorcycle, and taken to Grady with a fractured skull. She has never regained consciousness, and her temperature is 105 degrees. Physicians Wednesday night said that her neck probably was broken.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER TO BE LAID TO REST AT DOUBLE SERVICE

A double funeral service for Mrs. W. A. Wright, 74, and her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Pruitt, 35, formerly of East Point, who were killed Tuesday at Charlotte, N. C., in an automobile crash, will be conducted at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning from the East Point Methodist church, with the Rev. J. O. Pettis officiating. Burial will be in College Park cemetery. Only meager details of the accident were received.

Mrs. Wright was the wife of a former Fulton county policeman, and was well known in East Point. She is survived by four sons and two daughters. Mrs. Pruitt is survived by her husband, four brothers and two sisters. Mrs. Wright moved to Charlotte seven years ago.

SECOND LAMAR ROBBER IS GIVEN DEATH PENALTY

Lamar, Colo., October 16.—(AP)—Howard L. Royston, second member of the Elmer gang of bank robbers to stand trial for murder in connection with the holdup of the First National bank here in 1928, was convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury today. The conviction carries with it a mandatory death sentence. Four men were killed in the holdup.

Bibb Company Mill Workers Are Given Second Big Bonus

Macon, Ga., October 16.—(AP)—The second big bonus within a week was issued this morning to employees of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, making a total of more than $274,000 in two distributions.

On October 10, at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the board of directors the usual bonus, calculated on early earnings of employees at rates varying from 3 per cent to 12 per cent, based on length of service, was ordered distributed. This amounted to more than $137,500 and $138,000. The first bonus was distributed in two payments.

This morning a surprise was sprung on the employees of the Bibb at a luncheon in Macon, at Porterdale, Columbus and Reynolds, Ga., when envelopes with lavender colored borders were distributed, containing an additional bonus, practically the same as the first. The total amount of the second bonus was $136,500.

The same employees who received the first bonus share in the second bonus, it was stated. This means a distribution to employees, from the earnings of the company during the year, of a total of more than $274,000, it was stated. With the distribution of the special bonus the total amount of money distributed in bonus since the system was inaugurated reaches more than $1,100,000.

The appearance of the special bonus is something new for the employees of the Bibb Manufacturing Company. They were not anticipating it. On the front of the envelopes was the word: "BONUS."

"Special bonus for the year ended August 31, 1929, Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon, Georgia."

Then there was this message from W. D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, to the employees:

"By your faithful and uninterrupted service with the company, you earned in place of the regular bonus list and have received a special bonus for the year ended August 31, 1929."

"While the profits from operations during the past year did not equal the earnings of some previous years, yet from the standpoint of pounds of goods produced in our mills and percentage of theoretical production obtained, the year just closed was a banner performance in the history of the company."

"Your assistance and co-operation in making this performance possible has been valuable, and the sum of a special token of our appreciation."

$70,000 Annual Expenses Of U. S. Sugar Association Scrutinized by Probers

$56,230 Expended During First Nine Months of Year at Capital, Probers Informed.

Washington, October 16.—(AP)—Examination of the $70,000 annual expenditure in Washington of the United States Beet Sugar Association was made today by the senate investigating committee as it turned to the campaign over the proposed increase in the sugar duty in the pending tariff measure.

H. A. Austin, secretary and treasurer of the association, was the lone witness of the day, relating that $56,230 had been spent in the first nine months of this year, principally in contributions to various publications and office expenses.

Asked by Chairman Caraway of the committee if he thought his services in Washington had been influential in procuring the increase provided in the sugar duty by the tariff bill, Austin replied he thought "it just absolutely necessary for business to have Washington representative but it is helpful."

Maintain Press Bureau.
Austin said his organization, including 10 sugar companies and representing 90 per cent of the sugar production, co-operated with the Domestic Sugar Producers Association, which maintains a press bureau here, to distribute press releases to newspapers and newspaper reporters.

He did not know what the witness in Washington had been doing in procuring the releases, but said he thought most of the releases "went into the waste basket."

"Timing some lobbyists" interested in the other side of the sugar controversy, Austin was asked for his definition of lobbyists. He divided them into four classifications.

The first class he said was those who have money invested in a business or are officials who come to Washington periodically to present their views on matters pertaining to their business.

The second class, he said, was those "organized trade associations, such as ours, who are ready to take any side of any case for remuneration."

The third class, he said, was those "who are interested in the sugar industry and who are ready to take any side of any case for remuneration."

The fourth class, he said, was those "who are interested in the sugar industry and who are ready to take any side of any case for remuneration."

The witness remarked that he knew every congressman by his first name and could go around and slap them on their backs.

"What class do you put yourself in?" asked Caraway.

"In the second," Austin replied.

"Then you're a second class lobbyist," returned the Arkansas senator, while the crowded committee room laughed.

$8,000 Salary.
Under questioning of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, Austin named his salary as $8,000 annually. He said two clerks comprised the headquarters of the association, $2,000 each, $5,000 was given to S. H. Love, of Salt Lake City, the president. He said $70,000 was spent annually and listed major expenditures for the last nine months of the year as follows:

Salaries, $12,000; office rental, $5,000; for a publication "Facts About Sugar," $8,000; to "Agricultural Supplement," also a publication, $2,000; to Domestic Sugar Producers Association, $10,000; to "Western Irrigation," a Los Angeles, Cal., publication, $4,000; $1,000 for travel; expenses of officers and $750 for printing of pamphlets.

Austin said that during the consideration of the bill, he had been in the hands of the committee and had been asked by as many as ten or twelve officers of the association in Washington at one time. He said they gave testimony before the committee and also called by senators and representatives from their states to present their views.

Fate of Alleged
Slayer in Hands
Of Jurors Today

The fate of Solomon Springer, negro, who is charged with the murder of R. V. Overbeck, night watchman at the plant of the Atlanta Ice and Cold Storage Co., was decided today by a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court today.

In a statement to the jury Wednesday afternoon Springer denied killing Overbeck, and claimed that he got the night watchman's watch, which was found in his possession, from another negro in a crap game. Springer admitted having signed a confession to the murder, but claimed that he had been beaten and threatened by the officers and made the confession in order to save himself from further mistreatment.

Mr. Overbeck was beaten to death with a wagon spoke. The body was found by fellow workmen when they arrived for work in the morning. The slaying took place on the night of July 10.

FAMED ELEPHANT IS PUT TO DEATH
BY FIRING QUAD

Kendy, Texas, October 16.—(AP)—Black Diamond, circus elephant turned killer, today was executed by a firing squad.

The nine-foot beast was chained to three trees in a pasture west of here and five marksmen, using rifles, fired 50 bullets into its body.

Crowds, tight wire artists, aerial queens and others of the big top family of the A. G. Barnes circus were as Black Diamond, the most notorious trouper of them all, went down under the fusillade.

The condemned beast was tractable as it was led to the execution grounds chained to three other elephants to prevent a repetition of the burst of frenzy exhibited last week at Corsicana, when Mrs. Eric Lindholm, a spectator, was crushed to death and the animal's trainer injured.

23 FORD TOUR PLAYS AT WICHITA CONTROL

Wichita, Kan., October 16.—(AP)—Twenty-three airplanes of the 1929 national air tour had reached this southwest control point tonight after a flight of 24 hours from St. Louis and Springfield, Mo.

One mishap marred the 230-mile trip from Springfield. Morgan Hackman reported to the airport here that he had "cracked up" in his Fairchild plane near Fredonia, Kan. His ship was so badly damaged he could not continue. Hackman was uninjured.

Wiley Post's Bellanca flashed across the finish line at 3:25-22, the first ship to arrive. May Haindl, Kansas City, was the last to reach here at 4:00 hours later. She had been delayed an hour in starting from Springfield. A split second after Post came Lacey, of Wichita, and Cessna, and Stanley Stanton, also of Wichita, landed third. Mrs. Keith Miller landed her Fairchild sixteenth.

Before the fliers had reached Springfield they had lost two of their number. Forrest O'Brien and Russell Young were forced out of the race, at least temporarily, between St. Louis and Springfield. J. L. McGrady did not reach St. Louis.

J. Livingston, leader in points for the Ford reliability trophy, landed his Waco fourth here. A. J. Davis, a close second in points, brought another Waco down fifth. Both apparently maintained a steady lead, but although official figures were not available.

A dozen accompanying planes carrying officials and observers arrived before and after the contestants.

Turning east on their 5,017-mile tour of 32 cities, the fliers tomorrow will head for Des Moines, Iowa, and St. Joseph, Mo., the noon stop.

The third class, he said, was those "who are interested in the sugar industry and who are ready to take any side of any case for remuneration."

The fourth class, he said, was those "who are interested in the sugar industry and who are ready to take any side of any case for remuneration."

The witness remarked that he knew every congressman by his first name and could go around and slap them on their backs.

"What class do you put yourself in?" asked Caraway.

"In the second," Austin replied.

"Then you're a second class lobbyist," returned the Arkansas senator, while the crowded committee room laughed.

$8,000 Salary.
Under questioning of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, Austin named his salary as $8,000 annually. He said two clerks comprised the headquarters of the association, $2,000 each, $5,000 was given to S. H. Love, of Salt Lake City, the president. He said $70,000 was spent annually and listed major expenditures for the last nine months of the year as follows:

Salaries, $12,000; office rental, $5,000; for a publication "Facts About Sugar," $8,000; to "Agricultural Supplement," also a publication, $2,000; to Domestic Sugar Producers Association, $10,000; to "Western Irrigation," a Los Angeles, Cal., publication, $4,000; $1,000 for travel; expenses of officers and $750 for printing of pamphlets.

Austin said that during the consideration of the bill, he had been in the hands of the committee and had been asked by as many as ten or twelve officers of the association in Washington at one time. He said they gave testimony before the committee and also called by senators and representatives from their states to present their views.

Fate of Alleged
Slayer in Hands
Of Jurors Today

The fate of Solomon Springer, negro, who is charged with the murder of R. V. Overbeck, night watchman at the plant of the Atlanta Ice and Cold Storage Co., was decided today by a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court today.

In a statement to the jury Wednesday afternoon Springer denied killing Overbeck, and claimed that he got the night watchman's watch, which was found in his possession, from another negro in a crap game. Springer admitted having signed a confession to the murder, but claimed that he had been beaten and threatened by the officers and made the confession in order to save himself from further mistreatment.

Mr. Overbeck was beaten to death with a wagon spoke. The body was found by fellow workmen when they arrived for work in the morning. The slaying took place on the night of July 10.

FAMED ELEPHANT IS PUT TO DEATH
BY FIRING QUAD

Kendy, Texas, October 16.—(AP)—Black Diamond, circus elephant turned killer, today was executed by a firing squad.

The nine-foot beast was chained to three trees in a pasture west of here and five marksmen, using rifles, fired 50 bullets into its body.

Crowds, tight wire artists, aerial queens and others of the big top family of the A. G. Barnes circus were as Black Diamond, the most notorious trouper of them all, went down under the fusillade.

The condemned beast was tractable as it was led to the execution grounds chained to three other elephants to prevent a repetition of the burst of frenzy exhibited last week at Corsicana, when Mrs. Eric Lindholm, a spectator, was crushed to death and the animal's trainer injured.
